Viet War Losses Costly for Week, Report Indicates

SAIGON (AP) — The Allied commands in South Vietnam announced casualty figures today showing that last week was one of the costliest of the year for their forces. And civilian deaths attributed to the enemy were the highest ever recorded.

During only one other week this year was the allied military death toll higher.

The statistics underlined the war's present pattern: The guerrilla war of attrition continuing while isolated pitched battles in remote areas become less frequent but more intense.

The allied commands said 595 of their men were killed last week—380 South Vietnamese, 194 Americans and 21 Koreans and Australians.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 1,818 Communist troops were killed last week, about the average for the past several months. But it was nearly double the total reported the week before.

The highest total of allied dead this year was in one week of May, when 628 men were killed. Statistics are not accurate for such previous years as 1964 and 1965, when the South Vietnamese were sometimes losing whole battalions in bloody battles. However, last week's losses were certainly among the highest since that period, when the government's strength was at low ebb.

The military losses were paralleled by the highest recorded civilian toll of the war, 232 dead. This included 114 Montagnard villagers slain in the Viet Cong massacre at the village at Dak Son, but U.S. officials have estimated the death toll there probably was around 200.

The war communique today reported more isolated, deadly battles with little apparent pattern. There was fighting along the Cambodian frontier and in the northern provinces below the Demilitarized Zone, coupled with isolated Viet Cong assaults, shellings and the sabotage of a bridge on the Saigon-Dalat highway.

HHH Says LBJ Running

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says President Johnson, who hasn't announced he'll seek another term, already "has sort of hit the sawdust trail" in a re-election campaign.

Humphrey, talking Wednesday with newsmen in Miami Beach, Fla., was referring to the President's speech to the AFL-CIO convention there the night before. Johnson called congressional Republican leaders "wooden soldiers" whose "old Republican buggy can only go one way, and that's backwards—downhill."

On Capitol Hill, Republicans responded to the speech in predictably partisan fashion while—less predictably—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield rose to the GOP's defense.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford commented: "The Great Society of Lyndon Johnson has become a runaway locomotive with a wild-eyed engineer at the throttle."

Ford and other GOP leaders demanded equal air time from the three television networks which broadcast Johnson's speech. The CBS network offered a half hour at 7 p.m. Friday, but there was no immediate word from NBC or ABC.

Johnson sharply criticized Republicans in Congress for opposing his domestic program but Mansfield commented: "I must say in all candor many laws wouldn't have passed this year and in past years without Republican help. So if there is any blame, I think you can spread it impartially."

"There are nay-sayers and yea-sayers in both parties," Mansfield said.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said, "I don't see how you can throw a rock at a whole party. Bills got out of committee all right. They got many Republican votes."

Housewife Top OSU Graduate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus housewife graduating summa cum laude with a grade point average of 3.851 will be among the top 25 members of Ohio State University's autumn commencement class receiving degrees Friday.

Mrs. Dean E. Hotham, mother of four children, will be the top graduating senior. Her bachelor of science degree will cap schoolwork that began with night classes at Ohio State in 1956.

Nine other students will graduate with highest honors and 13 will graduate with honors or cum laude. Degrees will be granted 1,207 students.

Drunken Driving Law Change Near

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Law enforcement officers will have to spend a couple of minutes — maybe more, if they are slow readers — reading to motorists they stop for drunken driving who refuse to take chemical tests, commencing Jan. 1.

The driver can refuse to take a test but, if he does, after being advised of his rights, the registrar is required to suspend the person's driving privileges for six months.

The statement the arresting officer must read and show to the recalcitrant driver is as follows:

"You are now under arrest for driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. According to law I must advise you of the consequences of your refusal to give me a specimen of (blood-urine-breath) for analysis, which I will read and show you on the form prescribed by the registrar of motor vehicles. The registrar of motor vehicles upon receipt of a sworn report of the police officer that he had reasonable grounds to believe that the arrested person had been driving upon the public highways of this state while under the influence of alcohol and that the person refused to submit to the test upon the request of the police officer and upon the receipt of the form as provided shall revoke his license or permit for six months; or if the person is a resident without a license or permit to operate a motor vehicle in this state, the registrar shall deny to the person the issuance of a license or permit for a period of six months after the date of the alleged violation, subject to a review as provided.

The reading must take place in the presence of a witness.

Christmas Messages Are Taped

NEW YORK (AP) — A five-year-old girl in a bright green dress spoke into the microphone of a tape recorder and told her daddy: "Happy New Year—and don't forget to bring the bike."

A college girl clutched the microphone, closed her eyes and whispered to her boyfriend: "the holidays just won't be the same without you."

A mother burst into tears after telling her son: "I want to wish you a very happy Hanukkah, a very Merry Christmas, and a Happy, Happy New Year."

The three were among hundreds of New Yorkers who have been recording Christmas messages to their sons, fathers, husbands and fiancées stationed overseas.

Since Nov. 20, a steady stream of family members with servicemen abroad have been showing up at Red Cross headquarters here, taping their messages with the help of volunteers and mailing them to loved ones from Vietnam to West Germany.

"The response was very slow to begin with, but it's picked up tremendously this past week because it's getting closer to Christmas," said Catherine Sullivan, head of the Overseas Service League, the Red Cross auxiliary sponsoring the "Voices From Home" project.

"As of tonight we will have made about 250 tapes," Miss Sullivan said Wednesday. "By Sunday, we hope that we'll hit 500."

After the main booster has cut off the bus can make minute adjustments of its speed and direction, and after each adjustment can eject one of the several re-entry vehicles with nuclear warheads that it carries, Foster said.

Thus each warhead would be delivered on a trajectory to a different city, or if desired, all could be delivered within one city.

King Flees; Junta Names New Regent

ATHENS (AP)—Greece's military regime crushed today the last remnants of a counter-coup led by King Constantine and began a roundup of suspected royalist officers and rightist politicians.

The 27-year-old king, stripped of his power and his day-old dream of ousting the military government shattered, fled to Rome with his family. He had no comment.

Col. George Papadopoulos, strong man of the military regime and now premier, announced in a broadcast that Lt. Gen. George Zoiakakis, undersecretary of national defense, had been installed as regent.

Papadopoulos later told reporters the constitutional monarchy would be preserved and the king had voluntarily surrendered his functions.

Greeks learned for the first time late in the day that their king had fled. Papadopoulos' news conference was broadcast by Athens radio reporting the royal family, Premier Constantine Kollias and some officers had flown secretly to Rome.

In an early morning broadcast, Papadopoulos declared that the "antinationalist conspiracy has been crushed. The conspirators have been ousted."

Less than 24 hours after Constantine called Wednesday on his people to revolt against the ruling colonels in Athens, troops and armored carriers that had ringed the junta headquarters in the Parliament building, were removed. However, armed guards continued to stand outside defense headquarters on the outskirts of the capital.

Military units in northern Greece had been reported siding with the king, but the only reported fighting on the mainland was at Elefsis air force base southwest of Athens. Two army captains attempting to board a plane there for northern Greece were reported shot by troops loyal to the government, and clashes between air force and army units followed. Two buildings caught fire in the fighting.

Fighting also was reported on the Greek island of Crete, scene of the only armed resistance to the junta's takeover eight months ago.

Reports said the king was with the 3rd Armored Army Corps, based in the north, when he appealed to the nation to rebel. Athens Radio said today the commander of the corps, Gen. George Peridis, was among three army generals arrested by the junta.

Widespread arrests of right-wing politicians also were reported in Athens.

The capital was calm today, and people hurried to work as usual. But the government ordered all banks and the stock exchange closed to avert financial panic.

Christmas Tree Lighting Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will light the National Christmas tree Friday at the White House to launch the holiday season.

Johnson will press a button at about 5:30 p.m., lighting up the big tree outside the White House.

It was announced the Johnsons will spend Christmas at the White House, probably joined by their growing family; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent and their son, Lyn; and Marine Capt. and Mrs. Charles S. Robb.

OAS Money Irregularities To Be Probed by Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second congressional subcommittee will join a growing list of probes into reported financial irregularities within the Organization of American States.

Reports of alleged mismanagement of OAS money in Washington came amid announcements of OAS money irregularities abroad, the firing of a top Washington OAS official for alleged political interference and a deadlock over selection of a new secretary general.

Sources cite one bizarre liquor-buying incident prior to this year's Latin American summit meeting and hint of other alleged misdoings.

A report on a special $20,000 audit of OAS financial management—paid for by the United States—is expected in mid-February but U.S. Ambassador Sol M. Linowitz says it's not aimed at the reports of irregularities.

The House Inter-American Affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Armistead I. Selden Jr., D-Ala., called Linowitz to testify Tuesday on what he knew about the reports. Linowitz said after the closed meeting no specific clues have come to light.

Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., whose House Appropriations subcommittee approves U.S. funds for international organizations, told a reporter Wednesday that OAS and its administrative arm, the Pan American Union, will get special scrutiny at budget hearings expected in about six to eight weeks.

The United States supplies 66 per cent of the OAS budget—$11.4 million in the current fiscal year.

Secretary-General Jose A. Mora, whose term expires next May, told Monday night of these actions:

—The firing of Director Julio Cesar Banzas of the Pan American Union office in Buenos Aires "after a thorough investigation revealed the misuse of funds contributed by the Argentine government to the National Committee on the Alliance for Progress and which he received as a member of that committee." Mora said OAS funds were not involved.

—Transfer of Jose Salinas, Pan American Union office director in San Jose, Costa Rica, to Washington after numerous overdrafts in accounts. Mora said a probe is under way to determine if any money was misused.

—Instigation of an audit of OAS activities in the Dominican Republic which Mora said were being financed from the unspecified remnants of $37 million contributed by the U.S. Agency for International Development after the Dominican crisis of April 1965. Sources indicated very small sums were involved.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the deputy Democratic leader, maneuvered the bill to passage shortly after the Senate met with less than a dozen senators present.

However, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield protested strongly that the rights of individual senators had been disregarded.

He asked unanimous consent to have approval of the bill reconsidered. Long objected, saying he had learned from experience that "if you have a filibuster on your hands, you better break it when you can."

In the face of Mansfield's continuing appeals, however, Long said he was willing to have a motion entered to reconsider the vote by which the bill had been passed.

In doing so, he noted he would be in position at any time to table the motion to reconsider. Thus he would be able to cut off any filibuster since the motion would not be debatable.

Only after agreement was reached to vote at 11 a.m. Friday did he consent to have the passage of the bill rescinded and set for a second vote.

Principal opposition to the welfare provisions had been voiced by Sens. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. Neither was on the floor at the time of passage.

The House okayed the compromise Wednesday on a 388-3 vote after a Senate-House conference committee restored welfare-tightening provisions. The Senate had previously voted to junk or liberalize these provisions. (Continued on Page 2)

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank W. King, under fire because he does not live in Columbus as required by the union's constitution, reportedly is planning to move to Columbus.

King, also Ohio Senate minority leader, told a Toledo Blade writer at the labor organization's national convention in Miami Beach, Fla., that the exact date of the move was not certain.

The state AFL-CIO's Shawnee Council in Portsmouth has criticized King for not living in Columbus, and also charged he is violating the constitution by serving as president while holding a second job in the senate.

Social Security Bill Delayed By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate unexpectedly passed the Social Security bill at the start of today's Senate session, then after an angry flareup, reconsidered its action and set a vote on passage for 11 a.m. Friday.

The passage meant opponents of welfare provisions in the bill had lost a chance to engage in a filibuster that might have prevented passage of the bill at this session of Congress or at least delayed adjournment beyond this week.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the deputy Democratic leader, maneuvered the bill to passage shortly after the Senate met with less than a dozen senators present.

However, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield protested strongly that the rights of individual senators had been disregarded.

It will aid Greeline Steamers, Inc., of Cincinnati to build the new steamer, estimated to cost about $4 million, to replace the old Delta Queen which retires next November.

Piqua Atom Power Plant Phased Out

PIQUA, Ohio (AP) — Piqua officials plan to talk with Atomic Energy Commission authorities soon to see what to do about the nuclear power plant facilities to be phased out here in the coming months.

Local officials would like to know the exact date of disposing of the facility.

The AEC announced in Washington Wednesday it will abandon the facility on which it has spent some $24 million. Officials said they are giving the plant six months notice on a contract which normally would have expired in early 1969.

The local plant was closed almost two years ago because of technical difficulties in its reactor. The AEC's decision to terminate the facility also was based on some other factors including the engineering and design cost of preparing the plant for further testing and operation.

Use of organic cooled reactors such as the one here already have been phased out in the AEC's atomic program.

Demos Claim Fair Remap Would Gain Them Seats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Minority Democrats contend they can pick up an additional four or five congressional seats if the legislature makes "a fair division" of districts within a 10 per cent population variation.

Eugene O'Grady, executive director of Democratic State Headquarters, gave that estimate today and added, "It's possible we could do even better than that, conceivably a 14-10 margin in our favor."

Republicans now dominate the 24-member delegation 19-5, which O'Grady said resulted from gerrymandering by majority Republicans who drew the present districts in December 1964.

The U.S. Supreme Court threw out the 1964 plan earlier this month because of variations in the district population average of 404,433, ranging from as much as 20.9 per cent below the average to 13.2 per cent above. "Anything within 10 per cent variation would give us four or five seats," O'Grady asserted.

Committees of the Ohio House and Senate will hold their first meeting Tuesday to begin drawing a new plan for use in the 1968 elections, with Republicans still armed with the votes to enact a plan over Democratic opposition.

"Any fair division of districts within the 10 per cent variation is going to return to the Democratic party in Ohio the voice that was silenced by the all-Republican 1964 plan," O'Grady said.

"We don't expect them to do that," he added, "but if they would there are several districts we would expect to win." He listed five.

They included the 22nd in Cleveland, now held by GOP Rep. Frances Bolton, O'Grady said almost any rearrangement of Cuyahoga County's four districts "would involve more Negroes in her district and strengthen the Democratic voice."

While only seeing the prospect for picking up one of Cuyahoga County's four districts, O'Grady said Democrats could win all four if the county were divided into any four "quadrants" instead of retaining (Republican) William Minshall's 23rd horseshoe.

A mother burst into tears after telling her son: "I want to wish you a very happy Hanukkah, a very Merry Christmas, and a Happy, Happy New Year."

The three were among hundreds of New Yorkers who have been recording Christmas messages to their sons, fathers, husbands and fiancées stationed overseas.

Since Nov. 20, a steady stream of family members with servicemen abroad have been showing up at Red Cross headquarters here, taping their messages with the help of volunteers and mailing them to loved ones from Vietnam to West Germany.

"The response was very slow to begin with, but it's picked up tremendously this past week because it's getting closer to Christmas," said Catherine Sullivan, head of the Overseas Service League, the Red Cross auxiliary sponsoring the "Voices From Home" project.

"As of tonight we will have made about 250 tapes," Miss Sullivan said Wednesday. "By Sunday, we hope that we'll hit 500."

King Flees; Junta Names New Regent

ATHENS (AP)—Greece's military regime crushed today the last remnants of a counter coup led by King Constantine and began a roundup of suspected royalist officers and rightist politicians.

The 27-year-old king, stripped of his power and his day-old dream of ousting the military government shattered, fled to Rome with his family. He had no comment.

Col. George Papadopoulos, strong man of the military regime and now premier, announced in a broadcast that Lt. Gen. George Zoiakakis, undersecretary of national defense, had been installed as regent.

Papadopoulos later told reporters the constitutional monarchy would be preserved and the king had voluntarily surrendered his functions.

Greeks learned for the first time late in the day that their king had fled. Papadopoulos' news conference was broadcast by Athens radio reporting the royal family, Premier Constantine Kollias and some officers had flown secretly to Rome.

In an early morning broadcast, Papadopoulos declared that the "antimonarchist conspiracy has been crushed. The conspirators have been ousted."

Less than 24 hours after Constantine called Wednesday on his people to revolt against the ruling colonels in Athens, troops and armored carriers that had ringed the junta headquarters in the Parliament building, were removed. However, armed guards continued to stand outside defense headquarters on the outskirts of the capital.

Military units in northern Greece had been reported siding with the king, but the only reported fighting on the mainland was at Eleftheria air force base southwest of Athens. Two army captains attempting to board a plane there for northern Greece were reported shot by troops loyal to the government, and clashes between air force and army units followed. Two buildings caught fire in the fighting.

Fighting also was reported on the Greek island of Crete, scene of the only armed resistance to the junta's takeover eight months ago.

Reports said the king was with the 3rd Armored Army Corps, based in the north, when he appealed to the nation to rebel. Athens Radio said today the commander of the corps, Gen. George Peridis, was among three army generals arrested by the junta.

Widespread arrests of right-wing politicians also were reported in Athens.

The capital was calm today, and people hurried to work as usual. But the government ordered all banks and the stock exchange closed to avert financial panic.

Christmas Tree Lighting Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will light the National Christmas tree Friday at the White House to launch the holiday season.

Johnson will press a button at about 5:30 p.m., lighting up the big tree outside the White House.

It was announced the Johnsons will spend Christmas at the White House, probably joined by their growing family; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent and their son, Lyn; and Marine Capt. and Mrs. Charles S. Robb.

OAS Money Irregularities To Be Probed by Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second congressional subcommittee will join a growing list of probes into reported financial irregularities within the Organization of American States.

Reports of alleged mismanagement of OAS money in Washington come amid announcements of OAS money irregularities abroad, the firing of a top Washington OAS official for alleged political interference and a deadlock over selection of a new secretary general.

Sources cite one bizarre liquor-buying incident prior to this year's Latin American summit meeting and hint of other alleged misdoings.

A report on a special $20,000 audit of OAS financial management—paid for by the United States—is expected in mid-February but U.S. Ambassador Sol M. Linowitz says it's not aimed at the reports of irregularities.

The House Inter-American Affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Armistead I. Selden Jr., D-Ala., called Linowitz to testify Tuesday on what he knew about the reports. Linowitz said after the closed meeting no specific

Canadian PM Quits Party Leadership

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson announced today his resignation as leader of Canada's Liberal party.

He told a news conference he has decided "it is an appropriate time to take this step."

He had written Sen. John Nichol, president of the Liberal Federation of Canada, asking him to organize a national leadership convention.

He said he would continue in office as leader and prime minister until the convention. He added that he has been prime minister for almost five years, party leader for 10 years, member of parliament for 19 years, and a public servant for 40 years.

King To Move To Columbus

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank W. King, under fire because he does not live in Columbus as required by the union's constitution, reportedly is planning to move to Columbus.

King, also Ohio Senate minority leader, told a Toledo Blade writer at the labor organization's national convention in Miami Beach, Fla., that the exact date of the move was not certain.

The state AFL-CIO's Shawnee Council in Portsmouth has criticized King for not living in Columbus, and also charged he is violating the constitution by serving as president while holding a second job in the senate.

clues have come to light.

Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., whose House Appropriations subcommittee approves U.S. funds for international organizations, told a reporter Wednesday that OAS and its administrative arm, the Pan American Union, will get special scrutiny at budget hearings expected in about six to eight weeks.

The United States supplies 66 per cent of the OAS budget—

$11.4 million in the current fiscal year.

Secretary-General Jose A. Mora, whose term expires next May, told Monday night of these actions:

—The firing of Director Julio Cesar Banzas of the Pan American Union office in Buenos Aires "after a thorough investigation revealed the misuse of funds contributed by the Argentine government to the National Committee on the Alliance for Progress and which he received as a member of that committee." Mora said OAS funds were not involved.

—Transfer of Jose Salinas, Pan American Union office director in San Jose, Costa Rica, to Washington after numerous overdrafts in accounts. Mora said a probe is under way to determine if any money was misused.

—Instigation of an audit of OAS activities in the Dominican Republic which Mora said were being financed from the unspecified remnants of $57 million contributed by the U.S. Agency for International Development after the Dominican crisis of April 1965. Sources indicated very small sums were involved.

Piqua Atom Power Plant Phased Out

PIQUA, Ohio (AP) — Piqua officials plan to talk with Atomic Energy Commission authorities soon to see what to do about the nuclear power plant facilities to be phased out here in the coming months.

Local officials would like to know the exact date of disposing of the facility.

The AEC announced in Washington Wednesday it will abandon the facility on which it has spent some $24 million. Officials said they are giving the plant six months notice on a contract which normally would have expired in early 1969.

The local plant was closed almost two years ago because of technical difficulties in its reactor. The AEC's decision to terminate the facility also was based on some other factors including the engineering and design cost of preparing the plant for further testing and operation.

Use of organic cooled reactors such as the one here already have been phased out in the AEC's atomic program.

U.S. To Help Boat Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a bill which will aid in financing a new Delta Queen for operation on inland waterways, including the Ohio River.

It will aid Greeline Steamers, Inc., of Cincinnati to build the new steamer, estimated to cost about $4 million, to replace the old Delta Queen which retires next November.

The bill provides mortgage insurance for most of the cost of the vessel.

Demos Claim Fair Remap Would Gain Them Seats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Minority Democrats contend they can pick up an additional four or five congressional seats if the legislature makes "a fair division" of districts within a 10 per cent population variation.

Eugene O'Grady, executive director of Democratic State Headquarters, gave that estimate today and added, "It's possible we could do even better than that, conceivably a 14-10 margin in our favor."

Republicans now dominate the 24-member delegation 19-5, which O'Grady said resulted from gerrymandering by majority Republicans who drew the present districts in December 1964.

The U.S. Supreme Court threw out the 1964 plan earlier this month because of variations in the district population average of 404,433, ranging from as much as 20.9 per cent below the average to 13.2 per cent above. "Anything within 10 per cent variation would give us four or five seats," O'Grady asserted.

Committees of the Ohio House and Senate will hold their first meeting Tuesday to begin drawing a new plan for use in the 1968 elections, with Republicans still armed with the votes to enact a plan over Democratic opposition.

"Any fair division of districts within the 10 per cent variation is going to return to the Democratic party in Ohio the voice that was silenced by the all-Republican 1964 plan," O'Grady said.

"We don't expect them to do that," he added, "but if they would there are several districts we would expect to win."

Cleveland, now held by GOP Rep. Frances Bolton, O'Grady said aimed only rearrangement of Cuyahoga County's four districts "would involve more Negroes in her district and strengthen the Democratic voice."

While only seeing the prospect for picking up one of Cuyahoga County's four districts, O'Grady said Democrats could win all four if the county were divided into any four "quadrants" instead of retaining (Republican) William Minshall's 23rd horseshoe.

The other districts listed by O'Grady as prospective Democratic areas were those of Reps. Robert Taft Jr. (1st), J. William Stanton (11th), William H. Ayres (14th), and Charles P. Wylie (15th). The Democratic official contended heavily industrialized areas with strong Democratic support were "whittled" into insignificance by the 1964 plan.

"Actually, if you sit down with a map of Ohio and see that the population is concentrated in the state's industrial areas, you can draw equal population districts with simple mathematics. If that were done the Democrats probably would win control of the delegation as much as 14-10. Anyone should realize that the Democrats have a stronger voice in a state of this size than five seats."

O'Grady said despite prospects that Republicans "will gerrymander for certain," Democrats plan to present "a fair plan" to the committee. He said he has a plan to offer, and will meet soon with House Minority Leader Frank P. Kopylov of Cleveland and Rep. John McDonald, Democratic House whip from Newark "to see what we will offer."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has leaped into the cake gap with the assertion that the recipe they distributed after Lynda Johnson's wedding will produce "the most yummy cake in the world."

Many women who tried the reduced-scale wedding cake recipe pronounced it a monumental flat flop and suggested baking powder was needed to make the cake rise.

The White House Tuesday confirmed its original pound cake recipe. But Wednesday, apparently nagged by a lurking doubt, cake-recipe spokesmen "decided to make sure."

"We tested it in our own kitchen and it came out beautifully," they said. To prove the point, samples of the cake were passed out around the White House. Newsweek said they found it tasty.

"It is flat, just as the women complained," a spokesman said. "But pound cake is supposed to be flat."

"Now we can say with great authority that it is the most yummy cake in the world."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys for James R. Hoffa, imprisoned Teamsters union president, have asked the Supreme Court to grant him a new trial.

In their request they alleged the trial judge and two jurors were biased against Hoffa, and said two prostitutes have sworn in affidavits they had sexual relations with seven jurors.

The allegations of improper trial conduct have been rejected by lower federal courts.

Hoffa is serving an eight-year sentence for his 1964 jury tampering conviction in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Jobless Rate For Negroes Very High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The jobless rate for nonwhites in the nation's 15 largest metropolitan areas is "more than twice as high as that of whites," says Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz.

In these areas, he told a Wednesday news conference, about 27 per cent of total unemployment was made up of non-white workers who account for only 14 per cent of the 23.15 million persons making up the civilian labor force.

He said the nonwhite jobless rate for the 15 areas combined was 7.7 per cent—more than double the rate for whites.

The figures, based on the first nine months of the year, were in a Bureau of Labor Statistics report and gathered from the Census Bureau's current population survey which samples more than 50,000 households monthly.

New York and Los Angeles, the two largest metropolitan areas studied, accounted for 12 per cent of total U.S. unemployment with about 180,000 jobless workers in each area.

Cleveland Bank Robbed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two men wearing stocking-masks robbed the Euclid-Green Branch of the Society National Bank of Cleveland today and fled with an undetermined amount of cash from a teller's drawer.

Miss Sue Davis, a teller, said two men approached her cage and one called: "This is a stickup." She said one of the men carried a sub machinegun and pointed it at her.

Miss Davis said she pressed an alarm button and the man not holding the gun jumped over a counter and took cash out of a drawer.

Police arrived quickly in answer to the alarm, a bank spokesman said, and began tracing a car believed used in the robbers' getaway.

U.S. Planes Bomb Hanoi

TOKYO (AP) — Communist dispatches said U.S. planes staged a heavy raid today on Hanoi, which had been sheltered lately by monsoon clouds.

The Soviet news agency Tass said about 50 planes took part, bombing "residential quarters and other objectives." It did not define the other objectives, presumably the military targets.

The official Vietnam News Agency said in a broadcast from Hanoi that four planes were shot down, three over the Communist capital and its suburbs. The fourth, it said, was felled in a dogfight over Thai Binh Province, 50 miles southeast of Hanoi.

Tass said the raiders loosed "delayed-action pellet bombs designed to kill civilians." It evidently referred to explosives used to cut down anti-aircraft fire and missiles from Hanoi's heavy defenses.

There was no immediate comment from American authorities in Saigon.

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota North Stars announced Wednesday they are bringing up Bob Charlebois from their Memphis farm team.

Charlebois, 23, is the No. 1 goal scorer in the Central Hockey League with 15. The 5-foot-11, 176-pounder was purchased from Montreal last June in the National Hockey League's expansion draft.

Andre Pronovost will be sent to Memphis. He had been called up to fill in for injured Bill Goldworthy.

Turns Down LeMay Work

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Don Gingrich of Franklin said Wednesday he had turned down an offer to head up a national committee boosting retired Gen. Curtis E. LeMay for the Republican presidential nomination.

The national "LeMay for President" committee is located here.

Gingrich said he believed there was not enough nationwide support to get the nomination for the retired Air Force chief of staff.

LeMay, reached at his home in Bel-Air, Calif., Wednesday night, said he "would be very much surprised" if anything results from the efforts being made by the Mount Vernon group.

Rhodes Likes Education Plan

AMELIA, Ohio (AP)—A proposal for an aviation institute, community college and vocational education complex in Clermont County was greeted with enthusiasm today by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Grant Park, Inc., an industrial development group, announced plans for the complex at a breakfast meeting here attended by Rhodes and county officials. Rhodes also was to visit the Ripley Tobacco Auction today.

In remarks prepared for the breakfast meeting, Rhodes said, "When this school is completed it will play a major role in preparing thousands of young people for more and better jobs."

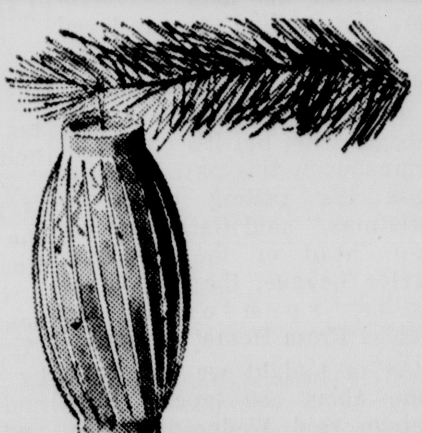

Students Absent From School

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Many students stayed home from Trenton Central High School today following fighting Wednesday between white and Negro students.

While plainclothes police and private guards patrolled the corridors of New Jersey's capital city's only public high school, Mayor Carmen Armenti met with students in a "gripe session."

Armenti, who arrived before the start of classes, barred newsmen from the conference building saying, "I want the students to be free to say what they want without adults around."

sions as well as to raise Social Security cash benefits.

As passed by the House, the bill would raise benefits for all recipients by at least 13 per cent. The monthly minimum would go from $44 to $55 and the maximum would go from $142 to $160.50. And a recipient with a wife 65 or over would get a 50 per cent increase in the basic payment.

Once the full effect of the bill is accomplished over several years, a retired couple could get as much as $323 a month.

Social Security taxes also would go up, with a maximum increase of $52.80 a year for those earning more than $6,600. The taxes would be upped the same amounts for employers and there would be additional increases for both in future years.

Plead Guilty To Belpre Shortage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Guyssville man and wife, described as a "model couple" by neighbors, today pleaded guilty to parts of an indictment arising from a $427,053 shortage at a Marietta branch bank.

Betty L. Storer and her husband, Gaylord, face possible punishment of 55 years in prison and $60,000 in fines.

The 37-year-old Mrs. Storer was head bookkeeper at the Belpre branch of the Peoples Banking and Trust Co. of Marietta, where officials in September reported a shortage growing out of check remittances and false record entries dating to 1958.

She pleaded guilty to four counts of embezzlement, one count of falsifying record entries and one count of conspiracy. Her husband pleaded guilty to four embezzlement counts in addition to a conspiracy charge.

The couple appeared for arraignment before U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary. There was no indication when the court would act on the pleas.

Rhodes OKs Poverty Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes approved today a $49,422 grant to finance administration of anti-poverty programs in five northwestern counties, the Ohio office of Opportunity reported.

The grant, previously approved by the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, will be awarded to the Northwestern Ohio Community Action Commission in Defiance.

The commission sponsors programs in the counties of Defiance, Fulton, Henry, Paulding and Williams.

A paid staff of six fulltime workers and 32 volunteers will be in charge of operating the program, which will serve an estimated 20,000 low-income persons in the five-county area.

Social Security Fight Threatens To Block Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight between urban and rural congressmen over federal school aid funds threatens to slow down Congress' rush to adjourn by week's end.

House and Senate conferees met until near midnight Wednesday in an effort to agree on a formula for funding the Elementary and Secondary School Act but broke up in wide disagreement.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told the House earlier Congress could not adjourn without passing a bill extending the act. But unless agreement comes promptly today he is likely to run into heavy pressure to put it over until next year.

The school bill is one of four measures congressional leaders want to wrap up before the session ends, but it will take a firm hand to hold the homeward-bound legislators in Washington past Friday night.

The other two bills, appropriating funds for the foreign-aid and antipoverty programs, moved forward Wednesday and should get another boost today.

A $2.3 billion foreign-aid bill agreed to by House and Senate conferees is expected to win quick approval in the House. And the Senate is expected to pass a $1.98 appropriation for the antipoverty program approved by its Appropriations Committee.

Although the House has voted only $1.6 billion for the antipoverty program, little difficulty is expected in reaching a compromise at about the $1.78 billion figure that Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity says he needs to continue the program at its present level of operations.

In the school bill conference, members from urban areas are quarreling with rural representatives over proposed changes in the formula for allocating funds that would increase the amounts going to rural areas at the expense of large Northern cities.

The problem arises because President Johnson, seeking to hold down federal spending, budgeted only half the amount for the program that Congress authorized, making the existing formula inoperative.

13-Year-Old Has Accident

A 13-year-old youth was involved in an accident that occurred 5:15 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Route 104 and 762.

The youth was identified as John M. Lynch, of Columbus. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff George Linder the investigating officer, was told the youth was apparently running away from home.

He had taken the keys of the car from his mother's purse and started south on the freeway. His father told authorities the youngster had never been behind the wheel of the car before.

After losing control of his car at the intersection, striking two gasoline pumps and a highway sign, the youth returned to Columbus.

He was taken into custody by Franklin County Juvenile authorities.

67 KILLED IN JUNGLE CRASH—This is the tail section of a Faucett Airlines plane that crashed in a jungle in Peru between Lima and Tingo Maria, killing all 67 persons aboard.

Jobless Rate For Negroes Very High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The jobless rate for nonwhites in the nation's 15 largest metropolitan areas is "more than twice as high as that of whites," says Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz.

In these areas, he told a Wednesday news conference, about 27 per cent of total unemployment was made up of non-white workers who account for only 14 per cent of the 23.15 million persons making up the civilian labor force.

He said the nonwhite jobless rate for the 15 areas combined was 7.7 per cent—more than double the rate for whites.

The figures, based on the first nine months of the year, were in a Bureau of Labor Statistics report and gathered from the Census Bureau's current population survey which samples more than 50,000 households monthly.

New York and Los Angeles, the two largest metropolitan areas studied, accounted for 12 per cent of total U.S. unemployment with about 180,000 jobless workers in each area.

Cleveland Bank Robbed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two men wearing stocking-masks robbed the Euclid-Green Branch of the Society National Bank of Cleveland today and fled with an undetermined amount of cash from a teller's drawer.

Miss Sue Davis, a teller, said two men approached her cage and one called: "This is a stickup." She said one of the men carried a sub machinegun and pointed it at her.

Miss Davis said she pressed an alarm button and the man not holding the gun jumped over a counter and took cash out of a drawer.

Police arrived quickly in answer to the alarm, a bank spokesman said, and began tracing a car believed used in the robbers' getaway.

U.S. Planes Bomb Hanoi

TOKYO (AP) — Communist dispatches said U.S. planes staged a heavy raid today on Hanoi, which had been sheltered lately by monsoon clouds.

The Soviet news agency Tass said about 50 planes took part, bombing "residential quarters and other objectives." It did not define the other objectives, presumably the military targets.

The official Vietnam News Agency said in a broadcast from Hanoi that four planes were shot down, three over the Communist capital and its suburbs. The fourth, it said, was felled in a dogfight over Thai Binh Province, 50 miles southeast of Hanoi.

Tass said the raiders loosed "delayed-action pellet bombs designed to kill civilians." It evidently referred to explosives used to cut down anti-aircraft fire and missiles from Hanoi's heavy defenses.

There was no immediate comment from American authorities in Saigon.

Bob Charlebois With North Stars

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota North Stars announced Wednesday they are bringing up Bob Charlebois from their Memphis farm team.

Charlebois, 23, is the No. 1 goal scorer in the Central Hockey League with 15. The 5-foot-11, 176-pounder was purchased from Montreal last June in the National Hockey League's expansion draft.

Andre Pronovost will be sent to Memphis. He had been called up to fill in for injured Bill Goldsworthy.

Turns Down LeMay Work

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Don Gingerich of Franklin said Wednesday he had turned down an offer to head up a national committee boosting retired Gen. Curtis E. LeMay for the Republican presidential nomination.

The national "LeMay for President" committee is located here.

Gingerich said he believed there was not enough nationwide support to get the nomination for the retired Air Force chief of staff.

LeMay, reached at his home in Bel-Air, Calif., Wednesday night, said he "would be very much surprised" if anything results from the efforts being made by the Mount Vernon group.

Rhodes Likes Education Plan

AMELIA, Ohio (AP) — A proposal for an aviation institute, community college and vocational education complex in Clermont County was greeted with enthusiasm today by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Grant Park, Inc., an industrial development group, announced plans for the complex at a breakfast meeting here attended by Rhodes and county officials. Rhodes also was to visit the Ripley Tobacco Auction today.

In remarks prepared for the breakfast meeting, Rhodes said, "When this school is completed it will play a major role in preparing thousands of young people for more and better jobs."

Students Absent From School

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Many students stayed home from Trenton Central High School today following fighting Wednesday between white and Negro students.

While plainclothes police and private guards patrolled the corridors of New Jersey's capital city's only public high school, Mayor Carmen Armenti met with students in a "gripe session."

Armenti, who arrived before the start of classes, barred newsmen from the conference building saying, "I want the students to be free to say what they want without adults around."

Post Office Announces Holiday Hours

Post Offices will observe regular holiday schedules Christmas Day and New Year's Day, it was announced by Postmaster Charles Walters today.

There will be no regular city or rural deliveries or window services on these two holidays, although special delivery service will be available, and mail will be collected from deposit points on holiday schedules.

All mail available for regular delivery will be delivered Dec. 23. No deliveries will be made on Christmas Eve day, except for special delivery mail and parcels containing perishable matter.

Circleville post office lobby will remain open for access to lock boxes and stamp dispensing equipment as well as for deposit of mail.

Postmaster Walters urged mailers to avoid last minute deposit of holiday mail and he said that all Christmas Mail should be in the postal system now to assure on-time delivery.

Woman Hurt In Auto Mishap

Anna Belle Jones, 43, Laurelville, sustained injuries to her back in an automobile accident that occurred 2:30 p.m. Tuesday on Route 56, 14 miles southeast of Circleville.

Mrs. Jones told Deputy Sheriff James Lockard she lost control of her car when she swerved to avoid a collision with an oncoming car. The accident occurred on a curve.

It was not reported until 8:24 p.m. Tuesday.

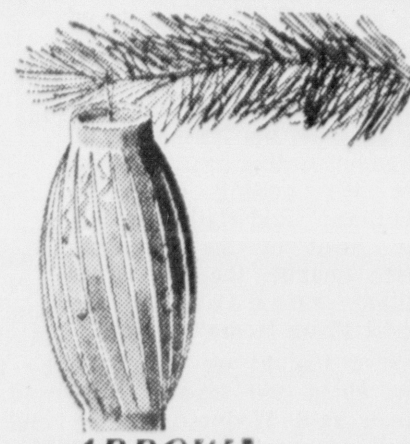

Mrs. Jones was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment.

Jesse Owens Raps Boycott

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Jesse Owens, former U.S. Olympic team track star, says he is convinced that some Negro athletes who threatened recently to boycott the 1968 Olympic Games are making a mistake.

Owens, the winner of four gold medals at the 1936 Olympic Games, pointed out, "These athletes going to the Olympics will have the opportunity of exerting a great deal of influence in their communities. They should go and represent this country."

Owens, now the head of a Chicago public relations firm, made his remarks following an address to 50 rookie policemen here Wednesday.

sions as well as to raise Social Security cash benefits.

As passed by the House, the bill would raise benefits for all recipients by at least 13 per cent. The monthly minimum would go from $44 to $55 and the maximum would go from $142 to $160.50. And a recipient with a wife 65 or over would get a 50 per cent increase in the basic payment.

Once the full effect of the bill is accomplished over several years, a retired couple could get as much as $323 a month.

Social Security taxes also would go up, with a maximum increase of $52.80 a year for those earning more than $6,600. The taxes would be upped the same amounts for employers and there would be additional increases for both in future years.

Plead Guilty To Belpre Shortage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Güssville man and wife, described as a "model couple" by neighbors, today pleaded guilty to parts of an indictment arising from a $427,053 shortage at a Marietta branch bank.

Betty L. Storer and her husband, Gaylord, face possible punishment of 55 years in prison and $60,000 in fines.

The 37-year-old Mrs. Storer was head bookkeeper at the Belpre branch of the Peoples Banking and Trust Co. of Marietta, where officials in September reported a shortage growing out of check removals and false record entries dating to 1958.

She pleaded guilty to four counts of embezzlement, one count of falsifying record entries and one count of conspiracy. Her husband pleaded guilty to four embezzlement counts in addition to a conspiracy charge.

The couple appeared for arraignment before U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary. There was no indication when the court would act on the pleas.

Rhodes OKs Poverty Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes approved today a $49,422 grant to finance administration of anti-poverty programs in five northwestern counties, the Ohio office of Opportunity reported.

The grant, previously approved by the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, will be awarded to the Northwestern Ohio Community Action Commission in Defiance.

The commission sponsors programs in the counties of Defiance, Fulton, Henry, Paulding and Williams.

A paid staff of six fulltime workers and 32 volunteers will be in charge of operating the program, which will serve an estimated 20,000 low-income persons in the five-county area.

Fight Threatens To Block Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight between urban and rural congressmen over federal school aid funds threatens to slow down Congress' rush to adjourn by week's end.

House and Senate conferees met until near midnight Wednesday in an effort to agree on a formula for funding the Elementary and Secondary School Act but broke up in wide disagreement.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told the House earlier Congress could not adjourn without passing a bill extending the act. But unless agreement comes promptly today he is likely to run into heavy pressure to put it over until next year.

The school bill is one of four measures congressional leaders want to wrap up before the session ends, but it will take a firm hand to hold the homeward-bound legislators in Washington past Friday night.

The other two bills, appropriating funds for the foreign-aid and anti-poverty programs, moved forward Wednesday and should get another boost today.

A $2.3 billion foreign-aid bill agreed to by House and Senate conferees is expected to win quick approval in the House. And the Senate is expected to pass a $1.98 appropriation for the anti-poverty program approved by its Appropriations Committee.

Although the House has voted only $1.6 billion for the anti-poverty program, little difficulty is expected in reaching a compromise at about the $1.78 billion figure that Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity says he needs to continue the program at its present level of operations.

In the school bill conference, members from urban areas are quarreling with rural representatives over proposed changes in the formula for allocating funds that would increase the amounts going to rural areas at the expense of large Northern cities.

The problem arises because President Johnson, seeking to hold down federal spending, budgeted only half the amount for the program that Congress authorized, making the existing formula inoperative.

13-Year-Old Has Accident

A 13-year-old youth was involved in an accident that occurred 5:15 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Route 104 and 762.

The youth was identified as John M. Lynch, of Columbus, Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff George Linder the investigating officer, was told the youth was apparently running away from home.

He had taken the keys of the car from his mother's purse and started south on the freeway. His father told authorities the youngster had never been behind the wheel of the car before.

After losing control of his car at the intersection, striking two gasoline pumps and a highway sign, the youth returned to Columbus.

He was taken into custody by Franklin County Juvenile authorities.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Pressure has built up strongly in the past few weeks to study the impact on stock prices of institutional trading, especially by the performance of go-go mutual funds.

A belief exists that the enormous blocks of shares owned, bought and sold by these wealthy institutions—funds, banks, insurers, trusts—may bring disorder to the market, causing unusually sharp price changes.

Of chief interest are the activities of performance funds, which churn their portfolios in quest of short-term profits so as always to show the flashiest results, or performance, at any given time.

Manuel F. Cohen, chairman of the Securities & Exchange Commission, has now suggested that a broad study be made of institutional trading. No such study now exists, although the cult of performance is spreading.

In mid-November, Robert Haack, who replaced Keith

Funston as president of the New York Stock Exchange just a few weeks earlier, endorsed proposal for a joint industry-government study. This is the first time the exchange has gone on record for such a study.

Even the president of one of the largest mutual funds, Howard Stein of the Dreyfus Fund, felt compelled two weeks ago to break a long public silence and warn of the growing cult of performance.

"It can easily become institutionalized speculation," he told an audience of Harvard Business School graduates. He endorsed the idea of a study.

Now the SEC has also decided that mutual fund investment companies must report all their portfolio transactions, not just their position in securities at the end of each quarterly period. The old regulation often permitted much in-out trading within the period to go unreported.

The new rules may put a magnifying glass on the go-go funds, which hereafter must report their daily, weekly or monthly trading in a stock even if they have eliminated the holding by the end of the quarter.

It would also be a start toward developing the information needed to outline the boundaries of the study, which will require not only masses of statistics but some very discerning judgments to be made of them. Perhaps also it would lead to better informed shareowners; very few investors today know the power and role of institutions. Even mutual fund shareowners know relatively little about their fund's buying and selling.

The importance of a study of institutional investors grows daily, for institutions have grown from about $88.6 billion in assets in 1945 to more than $565 billion now.

Not all this financial power is in stocks, of course, but the role of institutions will continue to grow. Insurance companies now are planning to form their own mutual funds. John Hancock, in fact, made its announcement this week.

"THE MONEY that I wasted on psychoanalysis," mourned Mrs. Mandelbaum, "before I discovered for myself the cause of all my anxieties and troubles!" "So what ailed you?" prompted Mrs. Schtuss. "I found out," declared Mrs. Mandelbaum triumphantly, "that I secretly believed I was a fox terrier." "Unbelievable," gasped Mrs. Schtuss. "But how do you know you're cured?" "How do I know?" echoed Mrs. M. "Just feel my nose!"

Most outlandish story of the week concerns the day in the sixteenth century when Pope Sixtus summoned Artist Michelangelo and allegedly asked him what he'd charge to paint the walls and ceiling of the Vatican's Sistine Chapel. "That all depends," is said to be Michelangelo's answer. "All depends on what?" demanded the Pope. "Depends," asserted Michelangelo, "on whether you want one coat or two."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have recently been told to have a mole cut out and I am confused. I have not had it done because I have been told by some friends that once you start cutting a mole you don't know how far down the roots are and that it could cause something dangerous. I hope you can help me make a decision.

Mrs. B. W. Louisiana Dear Mrs. W.: The word mole is too often banded around and used to describe any sort of blemish on the skin surface. Actually, a mole is a discolored and elevated spot on the skin. Usually, they are present at birth and their causes are not known. In most instances they are totally harmless unless they grow, become irritated or bleed.

There are numerous kinds of moles, none of which can be diagnosed only by its description. Certainly, your well-meaning friends are least able to understand the nature of the mole to venture an opinion that is worth attention.

I cannot possible help you make a decision because my judgment cannot possibly compete with that of your self-styled "professors" who have confused you.

It is obvious that the decision to remove your mole was made by a highly trained surgeon who came to that decision armed with years of knowledge and understanding. The fact that he wants to remove the mole does not necessarily mean that it is cancerous. It may well be that he believes this simple operation will give you an added sense of security knowing that it is out.

If ever you want an additional consultation about any problem in medicine that is confusing you, seek that consultation through your own physician. He is in the best position to help you find the additional comfort of another opinion.

Friends have great value as friends and should be treasured. When friends invade territories unknown to them, they may cede that treasured relationship and interfere with the medical security you can only gain from your own physician.

Recently a doctor told me that I have cardiopasm. I was admitted to the hospital and had all kinds of tests and X-rays. They told me I had nothing wrong with my heart. This terrified me because I think that they are not telling the truth. Doesn't cardio mean heart?

Mrs. S. L. New Jersey Dear Mrs. L.: You are confused and frightened by a term that would have been explained to you if you had asked your physician. Cardio does refer to the region of the heart. Cardiogram is a test of the heart.

There is, however, another meaning for cardio. This is the area of the esophagus which leads into the stomach. This is called the cardiac opening. Here, therefore, is the reason for the misunderstanding of your condition.

That which you have is a spasm of the muscle which leads from the esophagus to the stomach. The result is that the esophagus fails to open and, therefore, there is a retention of large quantities of food in the esophagus.

The cause of this is generally unknown. The symptoms of spasm may be belching, nausea and vomiting along with a feeling of fullness in the lower chest. These symptoms may be similar to a condition which is called hiatus hernia which occurs in the same area.

No, you do not have trouble with your heart. You would have spared yourself a great deal of concern if you had only asked our doctor about the exact meaning of cardiopasm.

Never let a child or adult approach a dog who is chained or who is eating.

From Dr. Lester Breslow, head of California's Health Department, comes word that divorce has fatal side effects. Being split, for instance, Divorce can bring on alcoholism and emotional illness. You just have to weigh what you're getting into against what you're getting out of.

Dr. Breslow says divorce can cause suicide. That's the livin' end.

The death rate is higher for divorced people than for married people. Probably from unbridled living.

Married people enjoy better health than divorced people.

So a lot of people are thankful for marriage. Especially children.

Reagan in the Ivy League

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Gov. ernor Ronald Reagan's four-day visit to Yale University as a Chubb Fellow has come and gone, but the melody lingers on. Some of the more radical students — led, appropriately enough, by a sophomore — had planned to make things rough for him, but he gave them better than he got, aided by a youthful traitor who slipped him some of the more loaded questions in advance so that he could be primed for them.

If there is anyone better in the United States at mollifying an opponent than Ronald Reagan, I'd like to know his name. The boys tried to corner the California governor by imputing to him some most ungenerous ends. He was "against the poor" because he had vetoed federal anti-poverty programs. He was against "academic freedom" because of his attitude to the Berkeley rebellion. He was a fit candidate for the dock at some future Nuremberg trial because he wanted to intensify the war in Vietnam. He was for selling young bodies without qualms into the involuntary servitude that results from the draft.

But in every case, Reagan turned back his young would-be tormentors by showing them that they were confusing ends with means. If California did not welcome certain federal anti-poverty projects, it was because it had a better way of dealing with such problems as unemployment in the Watts ghetto. If he was for intensifying the Vietnam War, it was because he was a peaceful fellow who wanted to get it over with. As for the draft, he had, regretfully, to take the side of Yale's President Kingman Brewster, who had condemned General Lewis Hershey's order to local draft boards to induct students as a penalty for exercising free speech about government compulsion in a war they considered immoral. Reagan said that, emotionally, he could feel for General Hershey, but, as he told Professor Thomas Bergin, his Chubb Fellow host at Yale's Timothy Dwight College, he would prefer — at least in peacetime — a voluntary professional army.

Reagan was closeted for a long time with President Kingman Brewster, and it may be assumed that the subject of academic freedom at Berkeley was mentioned. To a bigger audience, Reagan told rueful stories about his adventures with some of the more fanatical academic freedom advocates in California. For example, the Governor, as a member of the University of California Board of Regents, had discovered that the state university system — it consists of nine separate campuses — was paying $200 more for automobiles than the State government happened to be paying for its own cars. But when he suggested that the universities and the State might consolidate their automotive purchases, the howl went up that he was infringing academic freedom. Despite the criticism that he is meddling in the university administrators' own business, Reagan is on the warpath against a system under which one university has been paying $1.50 a pound for laboratory chemicals while another has been buying the same product for twenty-eight cents a pound. If Reagan had visited Yale ten, five or even two years ago, he would have found a far more active conservative element to welcome him. And the leftists would have been more content to let him talk. When Barry Goldwater was a Chubb Fellow, there was far less militant objection to his appearance. The rules of the Chubb Fellowship game, as interpreted by Professor Bergin in his official capacity of umpire, hold that public figures of varying philosophical hue should be presented to the students for inspection and fraternizing. Professor Bergin is personally a liberal, but he has held to a fair balance in his Chubb Fellowship invitations. There has been a socialist Lord Attlee at one time, a libertarian Barry Goldwater at another. But in this most intolerant year of 1967, poor Professor Bergin, a Dante scholar who would gladly see the U. S. decamp from the Vietnam inferno tomorrow, has found himself the butt of many of his liberal colleagues for giving the Yale students the opportunity of seeing and conversing with an able conservative governor who may very well be a candidate for President.

It's been a salutary lesson for Professor Bergin. Now he knows that when modern "liberals" talk about the right of free speech, they mean it in a strictly tribal sense. Professor Bergin had better be careful to make someone like Stokely Carmichael or Ho Chi Minh his next Chubb Fellow, or he will find himself locked out of the lodge forever by his own liberal tribal peers.

NEW YORK (AP) — A fable for today:

As they had done for some decades, workmen at Rockefeller Center erected a 65-foot Christmas tree in the Plaza.

At dusk it was lit and cameramen came to chronicle the crowded ceremony for a nationwide television audience.

"Isn't there something odd about that tree? asked an office worker nyrlying toward the subway.

"What are you—a trouble-maker?" replied his friend. "When you've seen one Christmas tree, you've seen 'em all." But a lot of people murmured that the tree certainly did look odd.

"It's too narrow at the bottom," said one. "No," said another. "It's just too wide at the top."

Then a little boy stepped up and shouted: "I know what's wrong. They put the tree up upside down."

"Hush, Joey," cautioned his mother. "People will think you're being silly."

"But Mama," said Joey's little sister, "he's right. They did put the tree up upside down."

At first the grownups in the crowd did think the two children were being silly. But soon a hundred kids were dancing around the tree and chanting: "It's upside down! It's upside down!"

"By heavens, it is upside down!" said a dignified old man after carefully looking at the tree through his spectacles. Then the grownups began to chant:

"It's upside down! It's really upside down!"

When word of the blunder reached Gus Eysell, president of Rockefeller Center, Inc., he was mortified.

"Well, that's show biz," he said. "But we'll fix it."

He immediately sent 100 workmen to turn the tree right side up. But the children formed a circle around the tree to protect it.

"We like the upside-down tree," they said. "We want to keep it this way."

And keep it that way they did, for this is a world in which youth must be served.

News of the upside-down Christmas tree was flashed around the world.

"The Americans never have become adults," sniffed the London Times.

"Mai oui," said President Charles de Gaulle of France. "What else would you expect of infants?"

"Capitalistic degradation," thundered a Pravda editorial in Moscow.

Silent Washington, D.C., officials worried whether the administration would have to shoulder the blame.

But their anxiety was short-lived. Crowds from all over America surged into Manhattan to see the most famous Christmas tree on earth.

When the politicians and moralists saw how the people took the topsy turvy tree to their hearts, they climbed on the bandwagon, too.

The mayor of New York and the secretary-general of the United Nations posed by the tree. Three cardinals blessed it. A thousand policemen were assigned to guard its green needles from souvenir hunters.

"It's a symbol of our times," said a statement from the White House. "A typical example of American know-how and ingenuity."

Envy then seized many of the nations that had first scoffed. In Britain they quickly turned the Tower of London tower into a Christmas tree.

In Paris, Picasso designed an artificial Christmas tree with motors that flew around the Eiffel Tower and showered free perfume on those below.

In Tokyo, they built a 200-foot paper-mache tree on the Ginza with a mainspring in its back which, when wound up, caused the tree to recite "The Night Before Christmas" in Japanese, English, French, German and Spanish.

And in Russia they uprooted a whole pine forest and flew it into space.

But all to no avail. They were too late. Ever after that, when historians recalled that particular era of mankind, they always put a footnote at the bottom of the page saying:

"That was the delightful year when the world saw its first upside-down Christmas tree."

Moral: Never be afraid to turn things over and look at them from a fresh angle.

The World Today

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional critics of Vietnam war policy are wishing Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy well in his challenge of President Johnson but most are shying away from publicly supporting the Minnesota senator's effort.

Nearly two weeks after McCarthy announced he would run again, Johnson in at least four presidential primaries next year, only one member of Congress, Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., has announced he will work for the Minnesotan.

In the Senate several fellow war critics made it known they might run as "favorite son" presidential candidates to provide a focus for antiwar sentiment in their states.

But one of these, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., quickly backed off and, with an eye to his own expected tough re-election fight announced he would stay out of the presidential picture.

Another, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said he was seriously thinking of becoming a "favorite son" but only for one convention ballot. He said he expected his state's delegation to support Johnson after that.

In general, the war critics have taken the public stance that while they regard McCarthy's candidacy as healthy for the Democratic party, they plan to stay neutral.

They give at least three reasons for this position.

"Ultimately," says Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., "the President has to be judged on his total record—not only Vietnam—and over-all I think the President has a tremendously impressive record."

A second factor in the thinking of the Vietnam "doves" is that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., despite his protestations of noncandidacy, may eventually wind up in the Democratic race as the major anti-Johnson candidate.

Recent polls on the presidential preferences of Democrats show Kennedy well ahead of Johnson.

One prominent House Vietnam critic, asking that he not be quoted by name, said recently that pressure on Kennedy to run is increasing sharply. "If Kennedy gets in," he said, "it would obviously be a different ball game."

Kennedy has said he would campaign for Johnson next year. But at about the same time McCarthy entered the race and Kennedy loosed his sharpest attack yet on administration Vietnam policy.

The third and perhaps most pressing reason for the neutrality of the "doves" is that all concede McCarthy faces a distinctly uphill fight with minimal prospects of success.

"Most of us will wait and see if he gets off the ground," said Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., adding he expected to be supporting the President next November.

Congressmen and senators running in 1968 will have to calculate what effect opposition to the President would have on their own candidacies, both in spring primaries and the 1968 general election.

For many, the McCarthy candidacy has come as an unwelcome news, much as they hope it will have some impact on administration war policy.

Most had planned to run a dual campaign, supporting the administration's domestic program and criticizing it for the war. McCarthy's candidacy would emphasize this dichotomy.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope leaves Friday for Vietnam with another Christmas cargo of laughs and lovelies including, this time, the eye-filling, 37-22½-35½ Raquel Welch.

It will be the comedian's fourth Vietnam visit and 17th annual Christmas tour but the first trouping for troops anywhere by the one-time winner of "Miss Photogenic" and "Fair-est of the Fair" beauty contests. Did the prospect of deafening wolf whistles and seas of eager faces seem, perhaps, a little dismaying?

"No I've been looked at a lot of times, and that's what I'll be there for. These are pretty wonderful guys."

The girl who has graced hundreds of U.S. and European magazines—but has refused offers of up to $35,000 to pose nude because "I'd just be very embarrassed"—leaves with a pre-sold audience.

Her pin-up pictures—especially one of her standing provocatively in a Stone Age doeskin bikini in "One Million Years B.C."—reportedly adorn many GI barrack walls and lockers.

Miss Welch has autographed poster-size photos at the request of troop units who have elected her their mascot. The U.S. and overseas demand became so costly that 20th Century-Fox now answers it with photo postcards.

Miss Welch, 26, who has been called the movies' new love goddess, is a Chicago-born product of San Diego-area schooling. In childhood she was nicknamed "Bird Legs" for her skinny build. Then she started modeling and won such beauty contest titles as "Miss La Jolla," "Miss Contour" and "Maid of California."

Of French-Spanish-German-English-Scottish descent, she stands 5-6, weighs 118 pounds and has large, hypnotic, deep-brown eyes. Her luxuriant, chestnut-brown hair falls to her bosom.

Sexy-looking even in voluminous homespuns for "Bandolero!," a Western with James Stewart and Dean Martin, Miss Welch reported she'd spent a weekend in bed, "a total ache from head to foot" from immunization shots in preparation for Vietnam. The USO had sent her a list—cholera, yellow fever, typhoid, malaria, etc. She wasn't complaining.

Her manager, Patrick Curtis, 31, to whom she was married last Valentine's Day in Paris, will go along as a production aide. Hope & Co.—Barbara McNair, Phil Crosby, Les Brown's band, etc.—plan 24 two-hour shows in two weeks.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Christine McGuire of the singing McGuire Sisters has married financier Robert H. Spain of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Miss McGuire, 41, met the 42-year-old Spain several years ago. It was the second marriage for both.

The civil ceremony Tuesday was performed at the Desert Inn.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson wants to reduce the number of hereditary peers who have voting rights in the House of Lords and to curb its power to delay legislation.

SENATOR PARTIED—Possible presidential candidates Richard Nixon (left), former vice president, and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York talk with Sen. The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Pressure has built up strongly in the past few weeks to study the impact on stock prices of institutional trading, especially by the performance of go-go mutual funds.

A belief exists that the enormous blocks of shares owned, bought and sold by these wealthy institutions—funds, banks, insurers, trusts—may bring disorder to the market, causing unusually sharp price changes.

Of chief interest are the activities of performance funds, which churn their portfolios in quest of short-term profits so as always to show the flashiest results, or performance, at any given time.

Manuel F. Cohen, chairman of the Securities & Exchange Commission, has now suggested that a broad study be made of institutional trading. No such study now exists, although the cult of performance is spreading.

In mid-November, Robert Haack, who replaced Keith

Funston as president of the New York Stock Exchange just a few weeks earlier, endorsed proposal for a joint industry-government study. This is the first time the exchange has gone on record for such a study.

Even the president of one of the largest mutual funds, Howard Stein of the Dreyfus Fund, felt compelled two weeks ago to break a long public silence and warn of the growing cult of performance.

"It can easily become institutionalized speculation," he told an audience of Harvard Business School graduates. He endorsed the idea of a study.

Now the SEC has also decided that mutual fund investment companies must report all their portfolio transactions, not just their position in securities at the end of each quarterly period. The old regulation often permitted much in-out trading within the period to go unreported.

The new rules may put a magnifying glass on the go-go funds, which hereafter must report their daily, weekly or monthly trading in a stock even if they have eliminated the holding by the end of the quarter.

It would also be a start toward developing the information needed to outline the boundaries of the study, which will require not only masses of statistics but some very discerning judgments to be made of them.

Perhaps also it would lead to better informed shareholders; very few investors today know the power and role of institutions. Even mutual fund shareholders know relatively little about their fund's buying and selling.

The importance of a study of institutional investors grows daily, for institutions have grown from about $88.6 billion in assets in 1945 to more than $565 billion now.

Not all this financial power is in stocks, of course, but the role of institutions will continue to grow. Insurance companies now are planning to form their own mutual funds. John Hancock, in fact, made its announcement this week.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have recently been told to have a mole cut out and I am confused. I have not had it done because I have been told by some friends that once you start cutting a mole you don't know how far down the roots are and that it could cause something dangerous. I hope you can help me make a decision.

Mrs. B. W., Louisiana
Dear Mrs. W.: The word mole is too often bandied around and used to describe any sort of blemish on the skin surface. Actually, a mole is a discolored and elevated spot on the skin. Usually, they are present at birth and their causes are not known. In most instances they are totally harmless unless they grow, become irritated or bleed.

There are numerous kinds of moles, none of which can be diagnosed only by its description. Certainly, your well-meaning friends are least able to understand the nature of the mole to venture an opinion that is worth attention.

I cannot possibly help you make a decision because my judgment cannot possibly compete with that of your self-styled "professors" who have confused you.

It is obvious that the decision to remove your mole was made by a highly trained surgeon who came to that decision armed with years of knowledge and understanding. The fact that he wants to remove the mole does not necessarily mean that it is cancerous. It may well be that he believes this simple operation will give you an added sense of security knowing that it is out.

If ever you want an additional consultation about any problem in medicine that is confusing you, seek that consultation through your own physician. He is in the best position to help you find the additional comfort of another opinion.

Friends have great value as friends and should be treasured. When friends invade territories unknown to them, they may cede that treasured relationship and interfere with the medical security you can only gain from your own physician.

Recently a doctor told me that I have cardiospasm. I was admitted to the hospital and had all kinds of tests and X-rays. They told me I had nothing wrong with my heart. This terrified me because I think that they are not telling the truth. Doesn't cardio mean heart?

Mrs. S. L., New Jersey
Dear Mrs. L.: You are confused and frightened by a term that would have been explained to you if you had asked your physician. Cardio does refer to the region of the heart. Cardigram is a test of the heart.

There is, however, another meaning for cardio. This is the area of the esophagus which leads into the stomach. This is called the cardiac opening. Here, therefore, is the reason for the misunderstanding of your condition.

That which you have is a spasm of the muscle which leads from the esophagus to the stomach. The result is that the esophagus fails to open and, therefore, there is a retention of large quantities of food in the esophagus.

The cause of this is generally unknown. The symptoms of spasm may be belching, nausea and vomiting along with a feeling of fullness in the lower chest. These symptoms may be similar to a condition which is called hiatus hernia which occurs in the same area.

No, you do not have trouble with your heart. You would have spared yourself a great deal of concern if you had only asked our doctor about the exact meaning of cardiospasm.

Reagan in the Ivy League

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Governor Ronald Reagan's four-day visit to Yale University as a Chubb Fellow has come and gone, but the melody lingers on. Some of the more radical students — led, appropriately enough, by a sophomore — had planned to make things rough for him, but he gave them better than he got, aided by a youthful traitor who slipped him some of the more loaded questions in advance so that he could be primed for them.

If there is anyone better in the United States at mollifying an opponent than Ronald Reagan, I'd like to know his name. The boys tried to corner the California governor by imputing to him some most ungenerous ends. He was "against the poor" because he had vetoed federal anti-poverty programs. He was against "academic freedom" because of his attitude to the Berkeley rebellion. He was a fit candidate for the dock at some future Nuremberg trial because he wanted to intensify the war in Vietnam. He was for selling young bodies without qualms into the involuntary servitude that results from the draft.

But in every case, Reagan turned back his young would-be tormenters by showing them that they were confusing ends with means. If California did not welcome certain federal anti-poverty projects, it was because it had a better way of dealing with such problems as unemployment in the Watts ghetto. If he was for intensifying the Vietnam War, it was because he was a peaceful fellow who wanted to get it over with. As for the draft, he had, regretfully, to take the side of Yale's President Kingman Brewster, who had condemned General Lewis Hershey's order to local draft boards to induct students as a penalty for exercising free speech about government compulsion in a war they consider immoral. Reagan said that, emotionally, he could feel for General Hershey, but, as he told Professor Thomas Bergin, his Chubb Fellow host at Yale's Timothy Dwight College, he would prefer — at least in peacetime — a voluntary professional army.

Reagan was closeted for a long time with President Kingman Brewster, and it may be assumed that the subject of academic freedom at Berkeley was mentioned. To a bigger audience, Reagan told rueful stories about his adventures with some of the more fanatical academic freedom advocates in California. For example, the Governor, as a member of the University of California Board of Regents, had discovered that the state university system — it consists of nine separate campuses — was paying $200 more for automobiles than the State government happened to be paying for its own cars. But when he suggested that the universities and the State might consolidate their automotive purchases, the howl went up that he was infringing academic freedom. Despite the criticism that he is meddling in the university administrators' own business, Reagan is on the warpath against a system under which one university has been paying $1.50 a pound for laboratory chemicals while another has been buying the same product for twenty-eight cents a pound. If Reagan had visited Yale ten, five or even two years ago, he would have found a far more active conservative element to welcome him. And the leftists would have been more content to let him talk. When Barry Goldwater was a Chubb Fellow, there was far less militant objection to his appearance. The rules of the Chubb Fellowship game, as interpreted by Professor Bergin in his official capacity of umpire, hold that public figures of varying philosophical hue should be presented to the students for inspection and fraternizing. Professor Bergin is personally a liberal, but he has held to a fair balance in his Chubb Fellowship invitations. There has been a socialist Lord Attlee at one time, a libertarian Barry Goldwater at another. But in this most intolerant year of 1967, poor Professor Bergin, a Dante scholar who would gladly see the U. S. decamp from the Vietnam inferno tomorrow, has found himself the butt of many of his liberal colleagues for giving the Yale students the opportunity of seeing and conversing with an able conservative governor who may very well be a candidate for President.

It's been a salutary lesson for Professor Bergin. Now he knows that when modern "liberals" talk about the right of free speech, they mean it in a strictly tribal sense. Professor Bergin had better be careful to make someone like Stokely Carmichael or Ho Chi Minh his next Chubb Fellow, or he will find himself locked out of the lodge forever by his own liberal tribal peers.

Gen. Wyand Learned of Viet Problems Hard Way

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Americans are learning the hard way what the French, in their last days in Vietnam, knew only too well: Vietnam is the graveyard of reputations.

Vietnam relentlessly grinds people down. Few ranking Americans have departed Vietnam with their reputations enhanced. Many failed to understand the dynamics of the war, particularly the military officers who insisted on viewing Vietnam in conventional military terms.

Lt. Gen. Fred C. Weyand spent a year in Vietnam before, as he explains, "The truth dawned on me."

Now the 6-foot-5 Californian is one of the handful of American general officers who seem to understand the social and political aspects that make this conflict so different from other wars the United States has fought.

Few generals have the acumen to bridge the gulf that has divided the military and civilian approaches to the Vietnam war. Weyand has done it.

Here is what Weyand says about the war:

"It is so unconventional that we are having a hard time understanding it. The U.S. military organization has had to be tailored and modified to fit itself to this kind of war."

"Our American terminology doesn't fit it, either. We have had to devise new names like 'county fair,' 'hamlet festival,' and 'search and destroy' to describe what we are doing."

"It is difficult to paint a word picture of what is happening here in Vietnam, even to military men skilled in the business."

Weyand's "moment of truth" came early this year after he assumed command of Field Forces 2, equivalent to a corps in earlier wars. Its region includes Saigon, the northern Mekong Delta and the rubber plantations and piedmont that stretch up to the central lowlands.

The 51-year-old soldier served in the China-Burma-India theater in World War II. He brought the 25th Division to Vietnam from Hawaii in December 1965, and commanded it here for one year.

Operating in the Cu Chi area northwest of Saigon, a hotbed of guerrilla activity, Weyand figured that he and his division had made solid progress during 1966.

"We had, too," he recalls, "but it was progress under my concept of conventional warfare. When I took over command of Field Forces 2 I began to realize the enormity of the problem. I had not known how

Police Officers Held in Dope Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Three New York City detectives, a federal narcotics agent and two investigators for the Nassau County district attorney have been arrested on charges of selling narcotics.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said Tuesday the six were named in three indictments returned by a grand jury during a continuing investigation of narcotics traffic.

All were assigned to combat trafficking in narcotics and they had accumulated outstanding records as undercover agents. Morgenthau said the suspects' activities hit at the very foundation of the antinarcotics program.

They were charged with having dealt in narcotics in the vicinity of the Supreme Court in Mineola, N.Y., on the streets of the Bronx and Harlem and in a Long Island motel.

The three city detectives, all of the narcotics bureau of the Police Department, were identified as Charles W. Kelly, 37, of Commack, Raymond R. Imp 32 of Staten Island, and Marvin M. Moskowitz, 31, of Brooklyn.

Among them the three had 25 citations for their work.

They were charged with "concealing, selling and facilitating transportation" of cocaine about May 19 of this year.

The federal agent, Cleophus A. Robinson II, 36, of Staten Island, was charged with having sold marijuana three times this year—twice in October and once last week.

The Long Island investigators both former Federal Bureau of Narcotics agents, were identified as Frank Dolce, 42, of Hicksville, and Jack Gohde 37 of Massapequa Park.

They were charged with having sold narcotics in "the vicinity of the Supreme Court of Mineola, L.I." and with having connection with narcotics allegedly destined for sale in Harlem.

Gen. Wyand Learned of Viet Problems Hard Way

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Americans are learning the hard way what the French, in their last days in Vietnam, knew only too well: Vietnam is the graveyard of reputations.

Vietnam relentlessly grinds people down. Few ranking Americans have departed Vietnam with their reputations enhanced. Many failed to understand the dynamics of the war, particularly the military officers who insisted on viewing Vietnam in conventional military terms.

Lt. Gen. Fred C. Wyand spent a year in Vietnam before, as he explains, "The truth dawned on me."

Now the 6-foot-5 Californian is one of the handful of American general officers who seem to understand the social and political aspects that make this conflict so different from other wars the United States has fought.

Few generals have the acumen to bridge the gulf that has divided the military and civilian approaches to the Vietnam war. Wyand has done it.

Here is what Wyand says about the war:

"It is so unconventional that we are having a hard time understanding it. The U.S. military organization has had to be tailored and modified to fit itself to this kind of war."

"Our American terminology doesn't fit it, either. We have had to devise new names like 'country fair,' 'hamlet festival,' and 'search and destroy' to describe what we are doing."

"It is difficult to paint a word picture of what is happening here in Vietnam, even to military men skilled in the business."

Wyand's "moment of truth" came early this year after he assumed command of Field Forces 2, equivalent to a corps in earlier wars. Its region includes Saigon, the northern Mekong Delta and the rubber plantations and piedmont that stretch up to the central lowlands.

The 51-year-old soldier served in the China-Burma-India theater in World War II. He brought the 25th Division to Vietnam from Hawaii in December 1965, and commanded it here for one year.

Operating in the Cu Chi area northwest of Saigon, a hotbed of guerrilla activity, Wyand figured that he and his division had made solid progress during 1966.

"We had, too," he recalls, "but it was progress under my concept of conventional warfare. When I took over command of Field Forces 2 I began to realize the enormity of the problem. I had not known how deeply the Communists were embedded in the countryside, that the threat was as acute, or that Saigon was as close to being strangled as it was."

Wyand had come to Vietnam to fight another Korea, where he commanded an infantry battalion through five battle campaigns. He became instead a student first, then an adept practitioner, of military political warfare.

Many observers regard his region as the one place in Vietnam where solid progress can be charted. They say Wyand and his top civilian official, Texan John Paul Vann, are applying tactics likely to show long-term results.

"In Germany we didn't worry about people, about winning their hearts and minds," Wyand says.

"In Vietnam, this is turned upside down. We have destroyed some divisions several times, yet the effect in the Vietnamese villages was not noticeable. We did not deter the terrorists and the guerrillas."

"It became obvious to me that the priority objective in Vietnam is control of the people. The Viet Cong guerrillas and the regular enemy troops who work amongst the people became the real threat. They controlled the people, like the hoodlum with the switchblade knife in the subway."

The temptation to underrate the guerrilla has been strong for many American career officers, and Wyand says he did not appreciate the military effectiveness of the local guerrilla battalions, companies, platoons and squads until he took over his new command.

"Our operations must and do take into consideration economic and political factors far beyond those normally considered," he observes. "We concern ourselves with the attitudes of the people, the impact of spending on the economy, opening roads for normal commerce to resume, things like that."

Wyand began using American troops in antiguerrilla actions around Saigon and in the northern delta. The tangled jungle at the periphery of heavily populated areas just to the north of Saigon has been bulldozed flat, literally tearing the ground away from Viet Cong who had dug extensive tunnels and rooms in these jungles over the years.

Clues Why Accidents Occur in Homes Are Listed

A four-year-old girl fell from an upstairs bedroom after leaning against the window screen. A small boy fell from a third floor window. Three little girls in different states fell from upstairs windows in their homes.

Why? Because there were no screens or guards at the windows. And because adults failed to observe the primary window safety rule when there are little children in the home: open windows from the top only, if possible.

A review by the Council on Family Health of reports about home accidents, some of them fatal, shows that the "why" may be rooted in human carelessness, neglect or even defiance of common safety precautions.

A four-month-old boy fell from a highchair. Two youngsters were injured in falls from dining chairs. A two-year-old girl fell from a kitchen table, and an eleven-month-old boy fell from a living room couch.

Why? Because the child in the highchair was not strapped in properly. The other children were at dangerous heights without adult supervision.

A two-year-old girl drank a glass of water mixed with fertilizer. An eighteen-month-old boy ingested turpentine. A sixteen-month-old girl sipped hair lotion. A two-year-old boy swallowed liquid detergent.

Why? Because the containers had been left on a kitchen table, on a kitchen counter, in cabinets under the sink, all within easy reach of little hands.

A two-year-old girl sampled a bottle of pills while visiting her grandparents. A three-year-old boy drank from a bottle of medicine in his parents' bedroom.

Two small girls ate medicine samples. A three-year-old boy sipped from a container of medicine.

Why? Because the pills were on an easy-to-get-to bedroom dresser in grandpa's home. The medicine bottle was on a bedroom window sill. The two girls found medicine in their mother's container of medicine was on a low shelf in a linen closet.

The Council of Family Health, a non-profit organization established as a public service by members of the drug industry to promote home safety and family health, points out that in the hands of little children, medicines are potentially harmful. Always keep medicines out of reach of small children.

A three-year-old boy drank from a nearly empty bottle of household chemical. Another small boy found a nearly empty container of insecticide.

Why? Because the containers, still with a little of their potentially dangerous contents, were discarded in trash baskets which the children could — and did — reach into.

A mother arose at dawn to give a child cough medicine and picked the wrong medication. A man went to the bathroom for a familiar medicine and took what he thought was the proper container. Later, he found he had swallowed medicine intended for external use only.

Why? Because neither adult took the time to read the medicine label.

An elderly woman was burned while cooking a meal. An elderly man tripped on the cellar stairs.

Why? Because they were wearing the wrong kind of clothes. The woman had on a long-sleeved, voluminous robe of fuzzy material. The man was wearing frayed and loose-fitting house slippers.

It would seem from reports of the accidents reviewed by the Council on Family Health that knowing the "why" is as important as knowing the "how".

Check Cords with Care Before Putting Up Lights

By ELEANOR ROSS

Decking the Christmas tree with lights is sometimes a temper-testing chore that usually falls to the man of the house when he is ready to sit back and enjoy the delights of Christmas Eve.

It is a good idea to have a rehearsal beforehand. First, put all the strings on the floor and straighten out kinks in the wires. Plug each string into the outlet to make sure all bulbs are operating, then disconnect each string.

Starting at the top of the tree and working down, put the strings in place. The lights should be arranged on the inside boughs first and then worked out from the trunk to illuminate the tips of the big branches.

As each string is placed, light it and stand back to observe the effect before placing the next one on the tree.

After all are hung, disconnect them and proceed with attaching the tree ornaments, again working down from the top. Here is a guide for the number of bulbs suggested for trees of varying heights: 35 for a four-foot tree; 56 for a five-footer; 81 for a six-footer; 110 for a seven-footer; 144 for an eight-footer; and 225 for a fine big ten-foot job.

When purchasing new strings of lights select only those certified by the Underwriters' Laboratories. Other lights, pretty though they are, that do not carry the underwriters' seal, often have flimsy wiring. But even an approved string will deteriorate in the course of time, so it is a wise procedure to check the strings that have been in use for many years to search out any frayed wires and damaged sockets.

When the strings are placed, see that tinsel does not come in contact with the sockets. And be careful not to overload the wiring system. Lighting systems differ. However, a general clue to an overload is the dimming of other lights in the house when the tree is illuminated. But do not attempt to correct the situation with bigger fuses—just disconnect other electrical equipment when the tree lights are on.

If there are small fry, keep the strings out of reach of little hands. Place all wiring and the tree so that the tots can safely see the lights without grabbing for them.

Clues Why Accidents Occur in Homes Are Listed

A four-year-old girl fell from an upstairs bedroom after leaning against the window screen. A small boy fell from a third floor window. Three little girls in different states fell from upstairs windows in their homes.

Why? Because there were no screens or guards at the windows. And because adults failed to observe the primary window safety rule when there are little children in the home: open windows from the top only, if possible.

A review by the Council on Family Health of reports about home accidents, some of them fatal, shows that the "why" may be rooted in human carelessness, neglect or even defiance of common safety precautions.

A four-month-old boy fell from a highchair. Two youngsters were injured in falls from dining chairs. A two-year-old girl fell from a kitchen table. A sixteen-month-old girl slipped from a living room couch.

Why? Because the child in the highchair was not strapped in properly. The other children were at dangerous heights without adult supervision.

A two-year-old girl drank a glass of water mixed with fertilizer. An eighteen-month-old boy ingested turpentine. A sixteen-month-old girl sipped hair lotion. A two-year-old boy swallowed liquid detergent.

Why? Because the containers had been left on a kitchen table, on a kitchen counter, in cabinets under the sink, all within easy reach of little hands.

A two-year-old girl sampled a bottle of pills while visiting her grandparents. A three-year-old boy drank from a bottle of medicine in his parents' bedroom.

Two small girls ate medicine samples. A three-year-old boy sipped from a container of medicine.

Why? Because the pills were on an easy-to-get-to bedroom dresser in grandpa's home. The medicine bottle was on a bedroom window sill. The two girls found medicine in their mother's container of medicine was on a low shelf in a linen closet.

The Council of Family Health, a non-profit organization established as a public service by members of the drug industry to promote home safety and family health, points out that in the hands of little children, medicines are potentially harmful. Always keep medicines out of reach of small children.

A three-year-old boy drank from a nearly empty bottle of household chemical. Another small boy found a nearly empty container of insecticide.

Why? Because the containers, still with a little of their potentially dangerous contents, were discarded in trash baskets which the children could — and did — reach into.

A mother arose at dawn to give a child cough medicine and picked the wrong medication. A man went to the bathroom for a familiar medicine and took what he thought was the proper container. Later, he found he had swallowed medicine intended for external use only.

Why? Because neither adult took the time to read the medicine label.

An elderly woman was burned while cooking a meal. An elderly man tripped on the cellar stairs.

Why? Because they were wearing the wrong kind of clothes. The woman had on a long-sleeved, voluminous robe of fuzzy material. The man was wearing frayed and loose-fitting house slippers.

It would seem from reports of the accidents reviewed by the Council on Family Health that knowing the "why" is as important as knowing the "how".

Missionary Prayer Band Holds Meet

The Missionary Prayer Band of the Campus Church of Christ in Christian Union held its December meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peters Jr. of Ashville.

Notes and news from the various fields where the Churches of Christ in Christian Union have missionaries now serving were read to the group.

Miss Mary Johnson, who was a missionary in India during that country's struggle for independence, presented a brief history in contrast of the India then, and the India of today.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission said Wednesday it received an application from Joseph P. Riccardi of Oberlin, Ohio, for a permit for a standard daytime radio station of 1570 kilocycles and 300 watts at Sandusky, Ohio.

Check Cords with Care Before Putting Up Lights

By ELEANOR ROSS
Decking the Christmas tree with lights is sometimes a temper-testing chore that usually falls to the man of the house when he is ready to sit back and enjoy the delights of Christmas Eve.

It is a good idea to have a rehearsal beforehand. First, put all the strings on the floor and straighten out kinks in the wires. Plug each string into the outlet to make sure all bulbs are operating, then disconnect each string.

Starting at the top of the tree and working down, put the strings in place. The lights should be arranged on the inside boughs first and then worked out from the trunk to illuminate the tips of the big branches.

As each string is placed, light it and stand back to observe the effect before placing the next one on the tree.

After all are hung, disconnect them and proceed with attaching the tree ornaments, again working down from the top. Here is a guide for the number of bulbs suggested for trees of varying heights: 35 for a four-foot tree; 56 for a five-footer; 81 for a six-footer; 110 for a seven-footer; 144 for an eight-footer; and 225 for a fine big ten-foot job.

When purchasing new strings of lights select only those certified by the Underwriters' Laboratories. Other lights, pretty though they are, that do not carry the underwriters' seal, often have flimsy wiring. But even an approved string will deteriorate in the course of time, so it is a wise procedure to check the strings that have been in use for many years to search out any frayed wires and damaged sockets.

When the strings are placed, see that tinsel does not come in contact with the sockets. And be careful not to overload the wiring system. Lighting systems differ. However, a general clue to an overload is the dimming of other lights in the house when the tree is illuminated. But do not attempt to correct the situation with bigger fuses—just disconnect other electrical equipment when the tree lights are on.

If there are small fry, keep the strings out of reach of little hands. Place all wiring and the tree so that the tots can safely see the lights without grabbing for them.

Hershey Asked To Change Mind

BERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey has been asked by the Oberlin College faculty to withdraw his recommendation that local selective service boards draft students who interfere with military recruitment.

College President Robert K. Carr said in a letter to Hershey Wednesday that the faculty regarded the director's policy as unlawful punishment and an insult to young men serving in the armed forces.

IGA Food Store Employees Feted At Yule Party

The employees of the Ashville IGA Food Store held their annual Christmas Party Sunday evening, in the party room of Boyer's Restaurant in Circleville.

A gift exchange was held following the dinner. Christmas floral centerpieces which decorated the tables were presented to Mrs. C. J. McDonald, Mrs. John Little, Bob Boysel and Larry Adkins.

Those attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McDonald, Bellefontaine, Mr. and Mrs. John Little, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bumgarner, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hosler, Clarence Little, Ralph Cloud, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Adkins, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spread wet burlap sacks over icy steps and walks. The sacks will freeze to the surface, skid-proofing it, without using salt or sand.

To blanch a food usually means to pour boiling water over it, then drain and rinse with cold water.

Cincy Airport Study Eyed

CINCINNATI (AP)—A private New York organization has offered to make a safety study at the Greater Cincinnati Airport and the airport board is pondering the merits of conducting the study.

The study by the Flight Safety Foundation (FSF) would be worthwhile "if it served a purpose to the populace of the area," said Byron Dickey, airport general manager.

Joseph D. Caldara, president of FSF, estimated such a study would take at least 60 days and cost $25,000 to $35,000.

Dickey said he had no official estimate but the board, composed of six members each from Kentucky and Ohio, would have to determine whether to engage the FSF.

The New York group offered to conduct the study shortly after twin jet passenger planes crashed at the airport near here, one taking 70 lives. FSF officials said the study would include an analysis of "airport facilities, terrain and operational procedures."

The offer was put forth in a telegram to the governors of Ohio and Kentucky, the Air Lines Pilots Association and other interested groups.

It works this way: The round is fired into the air by a propelling charge, then explodes in flight projecting thousands of shafts specially made to fly nose-first. A fuse on the projectile allows commanders to set the distance at which the dart package bursts.

Each shaft weighs 8 grains. The entire round weighs 28 pounds and is slightly over 34 inches long. Its fuse begins ticking away as the projectile spins out the artillery tube.

Thieves Pick Wrong Station

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — William P. Hand was at work at his filling station south of Newton when a car started into his station, then pulled away.

Hand thought it looked like his car. He called home and, sure enough, his was missing.

About 30 minutes later Wichita police reported they had the car and two young occupants in custody.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Andy Williams' Christmas show on NBC has become a holiday institution by now and Wednesday night's 1967 edition was perhaps the most delightful of the lot.

As usual, the entire Williams tribe was assembled for the hour program—parents, brothers, in-laws, nieces and nephews. And since everybody sings—including Andy's pretty wife, Claudine—the program was able to provide entertainment with a real family feeling.

The annual comeback of the Williams Brothers singing act was the top attraction of the Christmas show. This season they sparkled in an amusing recreation of one of their old five-minute radio shows, complete with singing commercial.

But the Williams Brothers are no longer the top guest stars of the show. Now it is Andy's children, little Noelle and Christian, who are the principal attractions. And small as they are, they are good troupers, attentive and well-behaved while their father was telling a bedtime story.

There were some elaborate production numbers on ice, and the settings, as usual on a Williams show, were as attractive as the musical portions.

The program was in excellent taste, as easy and informal as ever, projecting a happy holiday spirit.

NBC's "Music Hall," earlier in the evening was of special interest because it presented an assortment of younger comedians and an older one, Groucho Marx.

Marx resumed his 1928 role of Captain Jeffrey Spaulding, African adventurer, in the opening number, to demonstrate, he said, that comedy had changed over a period of 40 years. At any rate, Groucho's style—full of bite and wisecracks—was completely different from anything the young comedians had to offer.

His favorite humor seems to involve plays on words: "I shot an elephant in my pajamas, and how he got into my pajamas I'll never know."

Dick Cavett, a young comedian about whom many of his fellow funny men are enthusiastic, came on with a low-key monologue that seemed to ramble, but was highly effective. The team of Clair and McMahon did a husband-wife sketch that was quite funny. Burns and Schreiber repeated one of their taxi sketches, but one that is now getting a little threadbare from TV use.

Groucho observed that "the creation of laughter takes a great deal of training and trying," but the funniest moments of the hour came when a hilarious portion of a 1953 "You Bet Your Life" show was replayed. And the funny man was not a professional comedian at all, but one of the contestants on the show.

It was a variety hour played strictly for laughter and proved to be good fun for the audience.

Recommended tonight: "The Bob Hope Show," NBC, 8:39-9:30 EST, with Phil Silvers, Wally Cox and Don Adams.

New Heart Machine Developed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says an artificial heart machine has been developed which may soon be implanted in the chest of a patient threatened with heart failure.

The heart-assisting device is almost ready for human use, researchers said Wednesday, but they didn't specify how soon.

Dr. Lester Goodman of the Public Health Service told a news conference the implantation factor marks a big advance. He said the device has been implanted so far only in calves and further development will be carried out.

The government officials said the new machine has several advantages over a heart-assisting device developed by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey of Methodist Hospital in Houston, Tex. But they called DeBakey's machine a breakthrough, adding, "We aren't calling this a breakthrough."

Marshall Turner, a mechanical engineer who built the machine, said another key advantage is that it provides a smooth flow of blood. He said this should eliminate blood clots, the main problem of DeBakey's pulsating machine.

Turner said his machine would be capable of doing all the heart's work but added it wouldn't be used to that extent because clots might form in the unworking heart.

Like DeBakey's, the new machine would assume some of the work of the heart's left ventricle, the main working and pumping muscle.

Bus Fare Up In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati will have to pay five cents more for riding in buses starting today as the result of a fare hike approved by City Council Wednesday.

Council authorized by a 7-2 vote an emergency ordinance to raise the fare by five cents across-the-board.

The ordinance served as an amendment to the city's franchise with the Cincinnati Transit Co. and also provided that weekly passes be eliminated.

Adult first-zone prices will now be 35 cents, or five cents over the old rate of 30 cents, and children's fares will be 25 cents instead of 20 cents.

The ordinance also called for equalization of adult and student fares as of June 1, 1970.

Cincinnati Transit officials had petitioned council to adopt the ordinance to permit fare hikes which would cover employee wage increases granted by a new three-year contract.

Members of the Amalgamated Transit Workers Union ratified the contract last Thursday to halt the city's 37-day bus strike.

City Income Taxes Big Ohio Item

By STEPHEN H. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In 1945, no Ohio city had an income tax. This week, the small Athens County town of Nelsonville became the 165th city to levy one.

And the end, apparently, is far from sight.

"We had to have it, there was no question," said Dale Wharton, Nelsonville's part-time service director. "We were completely out of funds and we just had to have it."

Others which "had to have it" now include all eight major Ohio cities, most of the state's medium-sized cities and a steadily increasing number of progressively smaller towns.

Two-thirds of the 21 cities which adopted income taxes this year have fewer than 15,000 citizens. Fayette, with its 1,090 Fulton Mountains, levied the maximum one per cent allowable without special voter permission.

While Gov. James A. Rhodes has promised his administration will not allow a state income tax, such levies in little more than 20 years have become a key source of Ohio city revenues.

Toledo levied the state's first city income tax in 1946. Last year, it provided $18,750,000—more than a third of the city's revenue—from a tax pot shared with 20 surrounding municipalities.

"The stock answer is that it's the only substantial source of income left to the cities," says Toledo Tax Commissioner E. N. Goodyear. "Whenever the state enters a tax field, it does so to the exclusion of the cities unless it decided to allow them to share."

Toledoans voted last year to increase their tax beyond the normal maximum to 1½ per cent after city workers struck and firemen and policemen demanded higher pay.

"The police and firemen, they're the ones who started it," says Larry Weinstein of Youngstown's tax office, where a Toledo-type increase is up for a vote this Friday.

"We don't have enough income without the tax," Weinstein says. "Without it, we'd have to cut services back to the bare bones. All the cities are in the same boat."

Keeping the boat afloat took $86,429,575 from Ohioans' paychecks in 1960. Last year, income taxes yielded $120,766,166.

Next year, there will be at least 21 more such taxes, and some old ones will be higher.

Income taxes have expanded despite their opponents. As of 1966, 30 referendums to pass income taxes failed at the polls and 22 initiatives to repeal them were successful.

Nelsonville councilmen, unlike those in neighboring Logan who levied a tax in an unannounced session, passed theirs as normal legislation with three readings and apparently no objections.

"The feeling was that if it was put to a vote, well, no one will vote a tax on themselves," said Service Director Wharton.

Find Body Of Woman; Seek Cause

PLANO, Tex. (AP) — Investigators have ordered an autopsy in the death of Evalyn McLean, 25, who was once among the heirs to the famed Hope diamond.

Miss McLean's body was found Tuesday in the rambling ranch home where she lived alone. Neighbors in this Dallas suburb broke into the home when they saw no activity there for several days.

A toxicologist's study is under way to determine the cause of death.

Miss McLean's body was discovered lying on a bed, fully clothed. There was no indication of foul play. Justice of the Peace B. B. Carpenter said.

She was the daughter of John R. "Jock" McLean of Palm Beach, Fla. A former Dallas debutante, she had never married. She spent her time working with the horses she raised and trained at her Friendly Acres horse ranch six miles northeast of Plano.

The Hope diamond was once owned by her grandmother, Washington hostess Evalyn Walsh McLean.

Miss McLean and six other grandchildren were never allowed to so much as touch the diamond, a stone reputed to have brought ill luck to most who were associated with it.

Pleasure Fund Proves Worth

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — In the last 12 years, Wofford College has provided student loans for such things as stereos, and hi-fi sets, a trip to a mountain resort, a second-hand car and karate lessons.

All of the loans were granted by the college administration through a "pleasure fund," established 12 years ago by an anonymous Wofford graduate who said he didn't want any students to go through Wofford "without having any fun."

More than 1,500 students have borrowed up to $50 each through the "pleasure fund." Students are charged a $1 "paper fee" which goes back into the fund when the loan is repaid.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Spec. 4 Paul E. Dufford of Youngstown, Ohio, and Marine Pfc. Donald E. Harp of West Carrollton, Ohio, have been killed in recent action in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Wednesday.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Claus charms the snakes with the magic harp and Tweedlekeys escapes. This leaves only the dagger but the elf accidentally sticks himself and is poisoned.

THE DOOR IN THE WALL

CLAUS HELD the dying Tweedlekeys in his arms. The elf had said he would live if a stone should weep. But whoever heard of stones weeping?

Claus glared around at the rocky boulders jutting out of the snow. "Weep!" shouted Claus wildly. "Weep for Tweedlekeys!"

But the great stones stood frozen and dry in the wind.

Claus carried the elf into a nearby cave. It was cold there, too, but the stone walls cut off the wind. Claus built a fire and tried to warm the elf. He melted snow in a tin cup he carried on his belt. When the water boiled he used it to wash the small puncture in the palm of the elf's hand.

Then Claus sat there staring gloomily at nothing. Presently, his eyes widened and his mouth fell open. "They're weeping!" he shouted. "The walls are weeping!"

Now it could have been that the warmth of the fire and the steam from the boiling water caused moisture to form on the frozen rocks. Whatever the cause, tiny streams of water ran gently down the walls. There was no denying it; the stones were weeping!

Tweedlekeys opened his eyes. He sat up. He stretched. He was well.

Claus was so happy to see the elf return to life that he did not scold him for his carelessness with the dagger. But Tweedlekeys was gloomy. "All our weapons are gone. How can we fight the Pigwidgen now?"

"We'll have to use our wits," said Claus.

"Atlas," said Tweedlekeys, "that is one thing I have in short supply."

"We shall see when the time comes," said Claus. "Now let us get where we are going or neither magic nor wits will do us any good."

So on they traveled northward. Snow swirled against them. Wind whistled around their ears. Tears froze in their eyelashes. Icicles hung from their chins.

"If the Pigwidgen lives in a land of frost and never-ending snow this surely must be it," said Tweedlekeys at last.

Claus cried, "Look! Look!" Tweedlekeys squinted through his frozen lashes. All he could see was snow, snow, snow.

"It's like a solid wall," he grumbled.

"It IS a wall!" exclaimed Claus. "A solid wall 30 feet high."

"Then we're there!" whooped Tweedlekeys.

"But how do we get in?" wondered Claus.

"Simple," retorted the elf. "We'll climb it."

But the wall was straight and smooth. They could not get even a finger hold. They heaped up mounds of snow but could not reach even half way.

Claus said, "There must be a door."

They searched the length of the wall. They went down the side and around the back and down the other side. There was no door.

"What a stupid place to live," sputtered the elf. "You can't get in or out!" He kicked irritably at the wall.

A small square of wall jiggled slightly at his kick. "It moved!" blurted the elf. "It's a door!"

After the tour Dr. James Robinson explained the annual Mead Science Essay Contest to the group.

Percy Urges More South Viet Effort

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., left South Vietnam today after a five-day visit and said the South Vietnamese will have to shoulder more responsibility or they will lose their nation to the Communists. "They must begin to realize that they must make sacrifices or they are going to lose this nation," said Percy before boarding a U.S. Air Force plane for Vientiane, Laos, the next stop on the senator's world tour. "This should not be just an American effort," said Percy. "Other rich nations such as Japan can help this nation in its nation-building effort." He added that there can be no better policy for South Vietnam than that put forward by Gen. William C. Westmoreland in a recent speech in the United States—in Percy's words, "day by day to turn over more responsibility to the Vietnamese."

Appeal Slated In Vote Recount

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — William Milders said he will file an appeal in Butler County Common Pleas Court today concerning a recount that changed the results of the City Council election. Paul Becker replaced Milders as the seventh city councilman Wednesday after Becker picked up 36 votes in the recount to edge Milders for the position by a slim eight votes.

Search Mine For Missing Teen Boys

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff's deputies and volunteer miners searched an abandoned clay mine near here Wednesday night for two teenage boys who were reported seen last deep inside. The search continued today.

The missing boys were identified as Harry Reibold, 18, and Michael Sanfrey, 19, both of Warren.

The Columbiana County Sheriff's office said John Deeno, 17, also of Warren, reported Wednesday night that he became separated from the other two boys while in the mine. He came out, and later reported his friends missing.

Deputies and volunteer miners searched throughout the night without finding a trace of the boys. The miners said they thought the entire mine, in a hillside between here and Wells-ville, was searched. There was no evidence of a cave-in anywhere, they added.

House Group Lists Needs for Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Armed Services subcommittee says allied forces in South Vietnam aren't doing a good enough job of keeping tabs on Communist troop sanctuaries in Cambodia.

"It is the firm view of the subcommittee that adequate search and surveillance measures are not being carried out," said Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., in discussing recommendations made by the subcommittee. Rivers heads the full Armed Services Committee.

Rivers told the House Wednesday the subcommittee also concluded:

—Allied progress in the war is too slow.

—Halts in bombing of the North put the U.S. forces at a disadvantage.

—Military commanders should be allowed to pick primary targets, including anti-aircraft batteries and Soviet-supplied surface-to-air missile sites.

—Haiphong, North Vietnam's principal port, shouldn't be allowed to continue processing Communist war materials. There was no specific word on whether the subcommittee felt the port should be bombed or mined.

The group also called for additional South Vietnamese troops to be trained and equipped. In other war-related developments:

—Officials at a State Department briefing said this country would have the sympathetic understanding of major world capitals if it gave U.S. forces permission to pursue Communist troops into Cambodia.

They added there's no plan to attack Cambodia but that if incidents occurred near her border during "hot pursuit" actions, such incidents would be understood by governments friendly to this country.

—Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson said he's sure the United States knows Canada would have "grave reservations" if U.S. forces pursued Viet Cong into Cambodia. Canada's position is that this would risk widening the war with other powers getting involved, Pearson told the House of Commons.

—At the White House, President Johnson called in newsmen to interview Air Force Col. Daniel James Jr., of Phoenix, Ariz., who flew 78 combat missions over North Vietnam. Evans said American pilots don't like bombing pauses "because we catch hell when we go back." He said North Vietnamese air defenses are stronger after each pause.

—The State Department announced creation of a medal for American civilians who work for the U.S. government in Vietnam for at least a year.

—Gov. John J. McKeithen said in New Orleans that Sens. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, J. William Fulbright of Arkansas and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota help the North Vietnamese by opposing President Johnson's Vietnam war policy.

Man Appears In Murder Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Raymond C. Eaton of Whitley, Ky., waived extradition from Kentucky Wednesday and will appear in Cincinnati Municipal Court today on a first-degree murder charge.

Eaton, 29, is charged with the Nov. 14 murder of Rodney D. Hummel, a service station attendant here, during an attempted robbery, police said.

Eaton was arrested Sunday in Knox County, Ky. Another man, Carl Williams, Cincinnati, was also charged with first-degree murder in the slaying.

Sun Satellite Working Well

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Pioneer 8 soared through a long looping orbit about the sun today, reporting on conditions in interplanetary space. Its findings might ease the way for moon-bound astronauts.

The 145-pound spacecraft was launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy as part of a two-in-one shot that concluded the space agency's launch activity for 1967.

Kicked into earth orbit as the Delta booster rocket stabbed into space was a small 40-pound communications payload called TTS, which stands for test and training satellite.

Search Mine For Missing Teen Boys

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies and volunteer miners searched an abandoned clay mine near here Wednesday night for two teenage boys who were reported seen last deep inside. The search continued today.

The missing boys were identified as Harry Reibold, 18, and Michael Sanfrey, 19, both of Warren.

The Columbiana County Sheriff's office said John Deeno, 17, also of Warren, reported Wednesday night that he became separated from the other two boys while in the mine. He came out, and later reported his friends missing.

Deputies and volunteer miners searched throughout the night without finding a trace of the boys. The miners said they thought the entire mine, in a hillside between here and Wellsville, was searched. There was no evidence of a cave-in anywhere, they added.

Percy Urges More South Viet Effort

SAIGON (AP)—Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., left South Vietnam today after a five-day visit and said the South Vietnamese will have to shoulder more responsibility or they will lose their nation to the Communists. "They must begin to realize that they must make sacrifices or they are going to lose this nation," said Percy before boarding a U.S. Air Force plane for Vientiane, Laos, the next stop on the senator's world tour.

"This should not be just an American effort," said Percy. "Other rich nations such as Japan can help this nation in its nation-building effort."

He added that there can be no better policy for South Vietnam than that put forward by Gen. William C. Westmoreland in a recent speech in the United States—in Percy's words, "day by day to turn over more responsibility to the Vietnamese."

Appeal Slated In Vote Recount

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—William Milders said he will file an appeal in Butler County Common Pleas Court today concerning a recount that changed the results of the City Council election.

Paul Becker replaced Milders as the seventh city councilman Wednesday after Becker picked up 36 votes in the recount to edge Milders for the position by a slim eight votes.

The event is a perennial highlight of school activities in Circleville. Many weeks of preparation go into the musical program which is presented to the public free of charge.

Groups participating include the high school choir, band, and girls' ensemble. Truman Eberly will direct vocal music and George Marshall will direct instrumental.

Selections of the choir include "Silent Night", "Do You Hear What I Hear?", "What Child Is This?", "I Saw Three Ships", "O Little Jesus", "Coventry Carol", "Pin a Star on a Twinkling Tree", "Everywhere, Everywhere Christmas Tonight", "While By My Sheep", "From Far and Wide", "Carol of the Bells", "Mary Had a Baby", "Carol of the Drums", "O Holy Night" and "The Lord Bless and Keep You."

Ross County
Judge Plans
Retirement

CHILLICOTHE, O. — Ross County Common Pleas Judge Howard Goldsberry, who has served on the bench since 1939, has announced his retirement.

Judge Goldsberry said he will not seek re-election next year. His fifth term expires Feb. 8, 1969.

In announcing his decision, Judge Goldsberry said "There comes a time for everything — a time to be born, a time to die and a time to retire from public office."

During his tenure on the bench, he has never had opposition for re-election nor has he ever been obliged to pass a death sentence on a slayer. When he started his career, he was one of the youngest common pleas judges ever to preside in Ross County.

Order Man
Put to Death
For Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bruce Ogletree, 25, of Cleveland has been sentenced to die in the electric chair April 22 for the holdup-slaying of an East Side grocer.

A panel of three common pleas court judges convicted Ogletree of first-degree murder Wednesday in the slaying of Emile Edleman March 7. The panel did not recommend mercy, making the death penalty mandatory.

Assistant County Prosecutor Michael Farin did not ask the death penalty in his closing arguments.

Ogletree's lawyers tried to plead him guilty Tuesday, but the judges refused to accept the plea when Ogletree said he had been promised life imprisonment for changing his plea. The lawyers argued that Ogletree was confused and didn't understand.

Defense attorney J. Frank Azaroff said in his closing argument that Ogletree was entitled to mercy because he had helped police in solving the murder of William Jackson, a Cleveland Transit System bus driver, March 4.

Ogletree was a state witness last month at the trial in which Wayne Flannery, 19, was convicted and given the death penalty for the holdup slaying of Jackson.

He testified at his own trial that he was under the influence of narcotics when Edleman was slain.

Ogletree's mother, Mrs. Elsie Guice, collapsed in the courtroom when the verdict was read. She said she had convinced her son to turn state's evidence against his friend, Flannery, in hope of gaining mercy in his own trial.

'I Like Ike'
Promoter Dies

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A druggist who was one of the first to use the slogan, "I Like Ike," died in a hospital there Wednesday.

T.J. Cuzalina, 66, was hospitalized last weekend after suffering a heart attack.

Even before Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated he would accept a nomination for the presidency, Cuzalina was running daily paid columns in the Ponca City News promoting Ike's candidacy.

Numbers to be presented by the band include "A Little Child Is Born", "Lullaby", "Gesu Bambino" and a medley of "Ades-te Fidelis", "Silent Night", "O Little Town of Bethlehem", "Away in a Manger", and "Angels We Have Heard on High."

GOVERNOR'S GUEST — Richard Gerhardt, mayor-elect of Circleville, was one of more than 250 guests of Governor James A. Rhodes at a recent Industry Appreciation Luncheon in New York City. The luncheon was sponsored by the Ohio Department of Development and the Ohio Manufacturers' Assn.

James H. Harber, 30, of 351 Eva Drive, received an abrasion to the palm of his left hand on a truck door while working for Blue Ribbon Dairy.

Dianne Wallace, 11 months, daughter of Mrs. Dianne Wallace, 169 Town St., fell against a couch at home lacerating her right eyebrow.

Laurelville

Levy Passes

A three-mill operating levy for Laurelville Schools for five years was passed by voters in the district in a special election Tuesday.

It was one of three Hocking County School levies passed in the special elections. The three-mill levy is a new one which failed in the November election.

The levy passed by a 57.9 per cent majority, 180-131. A 104-17 margin in the village of Laurelville helped carry the issue.

Romney Rejects 2nd Place Spot

BONN, Germany (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said today he would refuse the vice presidential nomination if it were offered him.

"No, no," Romney told newsmen in the West German capital's small and almost deserted railway station. "The answer to the question is no."

Wessner Set For Hearing In California

CINCINNATI (AP)—James E. Wessner will appear at a hearing in U. S. District Court in San Francisco on a charge of refusing to report for draft inductions at Wilmington, Ohio Dec. 5.

Wessner, of near Blanchester, Ohio, surrendered at San Francisco Dec. 8 on the warrant issued here, and was released on bond after being bound to the grand jury there.

A decision will be made at the Dec. 18 hearing as to whether he will be returned to the Southern District of Ohio to stand trial, the FBI said here Wednesday.

Anti Draft and Anti-Vietnam war demonstrators conducted a silent vigil outside the Clinton County Courthouse at the time Wessner refused to be inducted.

The graduate student of the University of California took part in a sit-in at the draft induction center here last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hadler and daughter of West Jefferson were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Rothgeb and daughter and Pam Rothgeb.

Miss Janet Carle of near Williamsport spent the weekend with Roxanne Hulise.

Mrs. Thelma Farwell of Omaha, Nebraska, spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Massie and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Watkins were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. Virgil Slagle.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Conley, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Weiland and daughters of Columbus were weekend guests of Mrs. Ernestine Dudeson.

Mead Corp. Cuts Staff

Mead Corporation of Chilli-cothe has announced a cut in the research and engineering staff. As of Jan. 1, 15 per cent (40) employees work will be terminated.

The move reflects changing concepts of the manner in which technological services are provided within the corporation as well as the difficult economic situation currently faced by all segments of the paper industry," President George Pringle announced.

Mead has pledged its assistance helping those affected find new employment.

How the Weather Looks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Cooler air was spreading slowly across Ohio from the north and northwest today, with indications that temperatures will be a little below normal for the weekend.

A cold high pressure area in the Northern Plains this morning was moving slowly southward.

Skies were generally cloudy over the state this morning with occasional rain south. The rain was expected to end during the afternoon as skies were to become partly cloudy north this afternoon and south tonight.

Temperatures today were expected to range from 35 to 42 north to the 40s extreme south. Lows tonight will be in 20s or low 30s. Friday's forecast is partly cloudy and colder with snow flurries near Lake Erie.

FORECASTS
OHIO — Partly cloudy and colder tonight with a few snow flurries near Lake Erie, low in or low 30s. Friday partly cloudy and a little colder with snow flurries northeast.

CENTRAL OHIO — Partly cloudy and colder tonight and Friday. Low tonight mid 20s. High Friday mid 30s.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Partly cloudy and colder tonight and Friday. Low tonight 25-30. High Friday 35-40.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Partly cloudy tonight, low in 20s. Friday partly cloudy and a little colder.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Tonight partial clearing and colder, low 30 - 35. Friday partly cloudy and colder.

Common Market Showdown Is Predicted

BRUSSELS (AP) — The five Common Market countries that want Britain in their economic bloc decided today to bring the issue to a head with France at their meeting next Monday and Tuesday, a West German official said today.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt of West Germany and the foreign ministers of Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg made the decision at a breakfast meeting called by Brandt.

The West German official said the decision whether to start negotiations could go either way at next week's meeting of the Common Market council. But he said the five would insist on a decision.

The source said the five agreed that the decision must be unanimous. They did not question President Charles de Gaulle's right to a veto, he said.

He added that they also agreed the applications of Britain, Ireland, Denmark and Norway should remain a live issue even if the decision goes against negotiations—provided the applications still want to get in.

The officials said that if things reach that point, all concerned will have to consider what to do next.

Lausche Urges New Airport

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, in a letter to Alan S. Boyd, secretary of transportation, says the Ravenna Arsenal property, 25 miles southeast of Cleveland, should be used as an airport.

"The East Side of Cleveland undoubtedly will need expanded airport facilities as the air industry expands," Lausche said. He added he knew of no better land in the area for such a facility.

OHIO CASH GRAIN

Squibb Says Drug Prices Can Be Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A drug company consultant said today it is "clearly false and stupid" to say prescription prices can't be reduced.

George S. Squibb, a former vice president of E. R. Squibb & Sons, which bears his grandfather's name, said drug firms can reasonably expect "ordinary profits, yes, but windfalls, no."

"This may come as a shocking idea to those who set the prices," Squibb said, "but it is an idea which must be accepted or it will be imposed by regulations of the government."

Squibb's statement was prepared for the Senate monopoly subcommittee, which made it public.

"Because the government now is preparing to pay so much of the medical bill of the public," the drug industry cannot expect ever-increasing profits, Squibb said.

"The concept of more and more profits from the miseries of the sick, the aged and the malnourished" seems "to run

Taft Undecided On Senate Race

WASHINGTON (AP)— Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Wednesday he has not yet decided whether to run for the Senate next year.

Reports circulating in Ohio contend that either Taft or Ohio Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe will attempt to unseat Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland.

Governors To Meet In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ten of the nation's governors will participate today and Friday in panel talks here on inter-governmental affairs.

Six governors, along with federal, state and county officials, will discuss federal-state-local relations during the two-day Council of State Governments meeting.

The six are Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio; John A. Volpe, Massachusetts; John Dempsey, Connecticut; Phillip H. Hoff, Vermont; Raymond P. Shafer, Pennsylvania and Spiro T. Agnew, Maryland.

On Friday, four more governors will arrive to join Volpe and Agnew in mapping plans for the National Governors Conference next July in Cincinnati. They are John W. King, New Hampshire; Nils A. Bae, South Dakota; Buford Ellington, Tennessee and Mills E. Godwin Jr., Virginia.

sylvania sophomore, charged with setting a fraternity house fire that killed three persons last Sunday, was sought by police today.

Richard J. Noble of Orofino, Idaho, was charged in a warrant Wednesday night with arson, murder and setting fire to personal property.

The blaze broke out at Delta Tau Delta fraternity on the Penn campus, as a Christmas party was ending. More than 30 fraternity brothers and dates fled the three-story brick building as a tissue paper snowman and other Christmas decorations went up in smoke.

Christmas Cantata Scheduled Monday

Circleville Bible College will present a cantata entitled "Night of Miracles" 8 p.m. Monday at the First Church of Christ in Christian Union E. Ohio St.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

Members of Girl Scout Troop No. 238 held their annual Christmas spaghetti supper in the First English Lutheran Church on Dec. 9. Sixty parents, brothers and sisters were guests.

The girls escorted their families to decorated tables which had centerpieces on them that were made by the members of the troop. They also prepared all the food.

After the dinner the girls entertained the invited guests with a campfire songfest, closing with "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

Mr. Guy Partee returned to his home Sunday from Berger Hospital where he had been a surgical patient.

Family night will be observed at the United Brethren Church Thursday evening, Dec. 14. The affair is sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society. A carry-in dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. Following the dinner a program will be presented by members of the Junior Choir.

Members of the Ladies Aid Society are reminded to bring articles for the bazaar.

Members of the Fellowship Class of the Methodist Church will meet at the church on Friday, Dec. 15. A carry-in dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. Following the dinner the members will decorate the church for the holiday season.

All members of the class and their families are invited to attend.

Residents of the village are again reminded of the Home Decorating Contest sponsored by the Ashville Community Club and the Women's Civic Club.

The judging will take place on Friday evening, Dec. 22 between the hours of seven and nine. Committee members remind residents that this is the same evening of a school basketball game and if they are attending the game to have their home lighted before leaving so that the judges may observe each and every house in the village.

Ashville Temple No. 366 of Pythian Sisters met last Tuesday for the regular monthly meeting. Most Excellent Chief, Arlene Fortner, presided during the business meeting. Reports were given on the two banquets served to the local Kiwanis Club and also plans were made for the annual Past Chancellors Banquet which will be served for the Knights on Dec. 13.

Election of officers for the coming year was held. Those elected were Most Excellent Chief, Arlene Fortner, Excellent Junior Mary Helen Miller; Senior Mary Helen Miller; Excellent Junior, Jane Cline; Excellent Junior, Candy Miller; secretary, Fern Lutz; treasurer, Joan Fern Lutz; treasurer, Joan Kennedy; protector, Shirley Thompson; guard, Shirley Rathbun; musician, Gladys Rush; installing officer, Mona Morrison; grand representative, Rosemary Plum; alternate, Jill Reese; mistress of work Virginia Boyer; captain of degree staff, Marilyn Sabine.

The Most Excellent Chief announced that the Christmas party for some of the residents at the Orient State Hospital would be held Dec. 27. Any members wishing to donate gifts for the party are asked to contact Arlene Fortner, Candy Miller or Mona Morrison.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 19 and members attending are asked to bring a salad, sandwiches or cookies. Coffee and punch will be furnished. A dollar gift exchange will be held following the meeting.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance made the following runs this past week: Dec. 5, took Nelson Glick, a student at Teays Valley High School, from the school to Mercy Hospital; Dec. 8 took Mrs. Alice Balthas-er to Berger Hospital; Dec. 10, returned Guy Partee home from Berger Hospital; Dec. 10, took Mrs. Timmons from the Church of Christ to Berger Hospital.

Mrs. Mike McCray (Dianne Brown) arrived in Bermuda last Wednesday evening to join her husband who is stationed there with the U. S. Navy.

Governors To Meet In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ten of the nation's governors will participate today and Friday in panel talks here on inter-governmental affairs.

Six governors, along with federal, state and county officials, will discuss federal-state-local relations during the two-day Council of State Governments meeting.

The six are Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio; John A. Volpe, Massachusetts; John Dempsey, Connecticut; Phillip H. Hof, Vermont; Raymond P. Shafer, Pennsylvania and Spiro T. Agnew, Maryland.

On Friday, four more governors will arrive to join Volpe and Agnew in mapping plans for the National Governors Conference next July in Cincinnati. They are John W. King, New Hampshire; Nils A. Boe, South Dakota; Buford Ellington, Tennessee and Mills E. Godwin Jr., Virginia.

sylvania sophomore, charged with setting a fraternity house fire that killed three persons last Sunday, was sought by police today.

Richard J. Noble of Orofino, Idaho, was charged in a warrant Wednesday night with arson, murder and setting fire to personal property.

The blaze broke out at Delta Tau Delta fraternity on the Penn campus, as a Christmas party was ending. More than 30 fraternity brothers and dates fled the three-story brick building as a tissue paper snowman and other Christmas decorations went up in smoke.

Christmas Cantata Scheduled Monday

Circleville Bible College will present a cantata entitled "Night of Miracles" 8 p.m. Monday at the First Church of Christ in Christian Union E. Ohio St.

The Bible College choir and the orchestra of the church and college will combine for the program under the direction of Mrs. Donald Brown.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

Members of Girl Scout Troop No. 238 held their annual Christmas spaghetti supper in the First English Lutheran Church on Dec. 9. Sixty parents, brothers and sisters were guests.

The girls escorted their families to decorated tables which had centerpieces on them that were made by the members of the troop. They also prepared all the food.

After the dinner the girls entertained the invited guests with a campfire songfest, closing with "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

Mr. Guy Partee returned to his home Sunday from Berger Hospital where he had been a surgical patient.

Family night will be observed at the United Brethren Church Thursday evening, Dec. 14. The affair is sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society. A carry-in dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. Following the dinner a program will be presented by members of the Junior Choir.

Members of the Ladies Aid Society are reminded to bring articles for the bazaar.

Members of the Fellowship Class of the Methodist Church will meet at the church on Friday, Dec. 15. A carry-in dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. Following the dinner the members will decorate the church for the holiday season.

All members of the class and their families are invited to attend.

Residents of the village are again reminded of the Home Decorating Contest sponsored by the Ashville Community Club and the Women's Civic Club.

The judging will take place on Friday evening, Dec. 22 between the hours of seven and nine. Committee members remind residents that this is the same evening of a school basketball game and if they are attending the game to have their home lighted before leaving so that the judges may observe each and every house in the village.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Just Put Brakes on Gran's Driving

DEAR ABBY: If you can come up with a solution to my problem you are a genius.

We have two children, 4 and 5. My widowed grandmother, who is 64, is always after me to let our children stay overnight with her. She loves them, and they love her, but every time she asks me I try to find an excuse so I won't have to let them go.

You see, Grandma drives a car, and she is the world's worst driver, and when the children are in the car with her, my husband and I worry ourselves sick. You can't imagine what a poor driver she is, Abby. It's a miracle that she hasn't killed herself.

How can we tell her the real reason we don't want our kiddies to stay with her? She thinks she's a good driver, and if anyone says anything to the contrary she gets insulted.

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: If Grandma's poor driving has been called to her attention before, she must be aware that there is some talk about it, so save yourself a lot of worry, deception, and pussyfooting, and tell her she can have the kids only if she promises not to drive them anywhere.

DEAR ABBY: After 20 years of marriage my husband deserted his family for a tramp who already had three bad marriages to her name. One problem is that my "ex" is pretty good to me and the children. He never misses a birthday or Christmas and he gives the children money to buy me something special. He does all my house repairs and is educating all four children in expensive schools.

What do I do for him in return for his generosity? Regularly, three times a week I am a "wife" to him—just like old times. This not hard for me since I still love him.

I am beginning to feel cheap and dirty about it, now that I am "the other woman," because he must be lying to his wife about me just as he used to lie to me about her. Now I don't consider myself any better than the tramp he's married to.

At first I told myself I was getting even with her, but now I realize I am not hurting her. I am just fouling up my own life. I know it isn't right, but I can't seem to help myself. Any advice you give me I promise to follow to the letter. Naturally, sign my name

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: If you feel "chape, dirty and trapped," then the only way you can feel "clean and free" is to put an end to the "old times" sessions. I think you know what you should do; you desperately want someone to tell you that you must.

DEAR ABBY: I am 46 and my gentleman friend is 65. When we go to dinner and a movie he pays for it. I do all the driving and use my car because he doesn't drive. In fact, he doesn't even own a car. This has nothing to do with his financial situation as he isn't hurting for money.

Do you think I should pay for all the gasoline? Also when we go on overnight trips (strictly platonic), who should pay for the motel? I like to be proper.

ELMIRA
DEAR ELMIRA: The gentleman should pay for everything he can gracefully pay for. But if you "like to be proper," I suggest you pay for your own separate lodging on those overnight trips.

Terrorists in Louisiana Hit Oil Wells, Pipelines

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A hidden enemy is carrying on a strange guerrilla warfare against the $1-billion oil industry of southwest Louisiana, dynamiting pipelines, oil wells, service stations and communication lines.

Twenty-two times in the last two years dynamite bombs have exploded in the secrecy of night, causing damage roughly estimated at $1 million.

Resulting tensions have cost two lives.

One of the most recent blasts, a bombing of a 22-inch gas pipeline near Gueydan, La., on Oct. 5, prompted the Texaco Oil Co. to post a $50,000 reward. No one has offered information to claim it.

The foe is unnamed, his motives unclear. Only meager clues have been found at bombed sites. And countermeasures taken by state police and the sheriffs of 10 parishes have not achieved a single arrest.

Disturbed citizens have insisted the governor take action. They have formed committees, pooled their money and hired private detectives.

One drilling contractor has armed his 22 employees with shotguns, vowing the bombers "are not going to run these men off."

The big oil and gas corporations have tightened security and joined civic leaders in offering rewards totaling $80,000. But they admit, privately, they are virtually defenseless.

"There must be 3,000 wells in southwest Louisiana," notes one industry spokesman. "We can't have a man at each well 24 hours a day."

State and local investigators point out that because dynamite can be planted hours before it is detonated, a bomber has ample time to escape. And the only clues discovered so far have been a pocket knife, a piece of clothing, packing from fuses and items similarly difficult to trace.

Privately officials of oil and gas companies theorize labor is trying to organize the largely nonunion producing companies—firms involved in exploring and drilling for gas and oil—is harassing the big refining and distributing corporations which continue to use the small, local contractors.

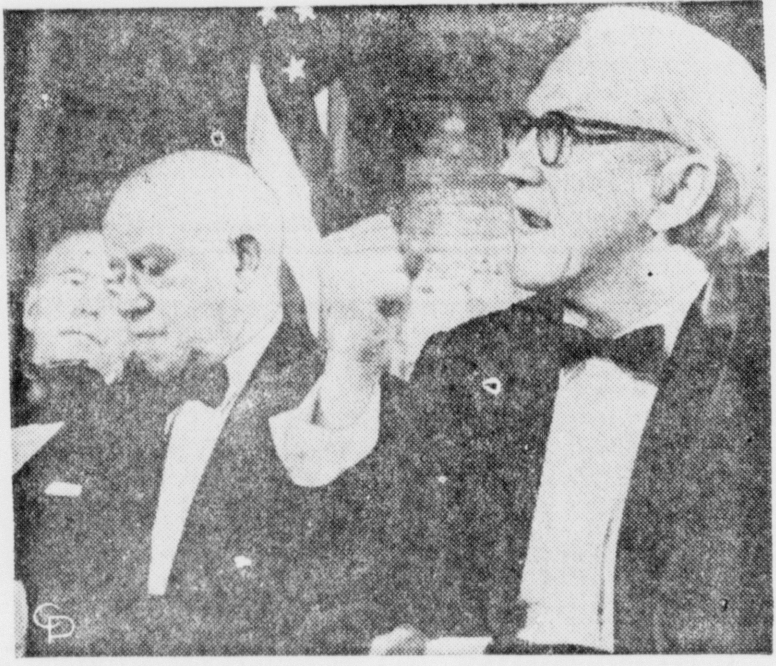

Labor leaders deny the charges vehemently.

The shock waves of blasts and deaths can be felt by the owner of a small business as well as executives of big gas companies.

"Investors are afraid to come into the area," says Wilfred Begnaud, head of the Association of Industrial Improvement and president of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce.

"I would say the economy of the area is already damaged, in what degree is hard to say."

The mineral-rich area, heavily dependent on the oil and gas industry, is the land of the Cajun—a hot and swampy flatland inhabited by people who speak a French patois as readily as English. It stretches through the parishes (counties) of Acadia, Calcasieu, Cameron, Iberia, Jefferson Davis, Lafayette, St. Landry, St. Martin, St. Mary and Vermilion.

Flyers Top Cards 63-47 In Big College Cage Tilt

Associated Press Sports Writer

Shed a tear for John Dromo, who succeeded Peck Hickman as basketball coach of the nationally high ranked University of Louisville Cardinals.

"If we win they will say I did it with Hickman's players, such as Westley Unseld and Butch Beard," Dromo said before the season opened. "If we don't win, then I've loused up some great material."

The Cardinals, fifth-ranked in this week's Associated Press poll, suffered their second straight upset on the road Wednesday night. They took a 63-47 drubbing from the Dayton Flyers, who had been upset twice themselves last week and fell out of the AP Top Ten.

Eastern Kentucky, which upset Dayton 76-75 last Friday, came through with another home court surprise. The Colonels erased a 14-point deficit to beat Marshall 76-73 on four free throws by Bobby Washington in the last 40 seconds. Garfield Smith was a major factor in the Colonels' triumph with 22 points and a record 33 rebounds.

Second-ranked Houston enjoyed an 86-61 romp over George Washington in the first round of Bluebonnet Classic at Houston. Elvin Hayes, the Big E, paced Houston with 40 points. Montana State beat Mississippi State 81-73 in the other first-round game and meets Houston in the Bluebonnet final tonight.

In other games involving teams in the AP Top Ten, sixth-ranked Boston College routed Fairfield at home 96-76 and 10th-ranked Princeton made it five in a row by whipping Navy at Annapolis 76-59. Steve Adelman led BC with 27 points. Chris Thomforde paced Princeton with 19 points, including 9-for-9 from the foul line.

New Mexico also upped its record to 5-0 by downing West Texas 94-78 behind Ron Nelson's 24 points. In other home court triumphs, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia edged Providence 68-65 on Don Kelly's four free throws in the last 40 seconds, Texas Christian downed New Orleans Loyola 101-69, Columbia crushed

Canadiens Rout Boston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Combustible Toe Blake set a personal record and the Minnesota North Stars extended a team mark but today's National Hockey League award for persistence goes to Chicago's slick Stan Mikita.

Blake, fiery coach of the Montreal Canadiens, was thrown out of a game for the first time Wednesday night for protesting a goal too vehemently. The fired-up Canadiens then routed Boston 6-2.

Minnesota blanked Los Angeles 4-0 and extended their unbeaten streak in games where they have scored the first goal to 10. They've won eight and tied two in games where they have opened the scoring.

Mikita scored twice, once while flat on his stomach, as Chicago tripped the New York Rangers 5-2.

Rutgers 95-64, Fordham beat Massachusetts 77-66 and St. Francis of New York humbled Connecticut 82-62.

Also, Oklahoma State edged Trinity, Tex., 58-55, Duke walloped Virginia for the 20th straight time 103-61, Wyoming trampled Denver 107-75, Colorado won over Creighton in overtime 67-66 and North Texas upset Texas A&M 71-65.

On the road, Furman beat Mississippi 72-68, LaSalle whipped Bucknell 84-59, St. Louis downed Missouri 77-66 and Evansville toppled Seattle 78-66.

In other Ohio games, twin brothers Jerry and Jim Carder paced undefeated Findlay to its fifth straight victory, a 99-82 decision over still winless Capital. The Carders accounted for 51 points.

Denison whipped Oberlin 79-55 in an Ohio Conference game as the big Red's Charlie Claggett scored 21 points.

Adelbert beat John Carroll 82-72, and Slippery Rock thumped Walsh 81-67.

Tonight's big attraction in Ohio will be the Niagara and Bowling Green game in the Cleveland Arena. The Falcons will have to face 6-foot-10 sophomore Calvin Murphy, who has averaged 43 points a game in three games for Niagara.

Kentucky Wesleyan and Akron, a couple of small college powers, will battle at Akron in another featured game.

San Diego Leads Small College Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
San Diego State moved into a commanding lead while Evansville and Southwestern Louisiana made substantial gains in The Associated Press' small college basketball poll today.

The Aztecs, 4-0, received seven first-place votes and 132 points in the balloting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters.

Kentucky Wesleyan held second place with 94 points and Evansville advanced three notches to third with 93 points. Trinity, Tex., remained in the No. 4 spot followed by Southwestern Louisiana, which climbed four positions to fifth.

Akron, Indiana State, Long Island University, Winston-Salem and Cheyney State complete the rankings in that order. The voting was based on games through last Saturday.

San Diego State beat Whittier 84-63 and San Diego 69-59 last week. Kentucky Wesleyan lost to Central State of Ohio 86-80 and defeated Indiana State 62-61. Evansville downed Lamar Tech, 94-78.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. San Diego St. (7) 132
2. Kentucky Wesleyan (1) 94
3. Evansville 93
4. Trinity, Tex. (2) 84
5. Southwestern, La. (3) 75
6. Akron 65
7. Indiana State 64
8. Long Island U. (2) 44
9. Winston-Salem (1) 39
10. Cheyney State 24

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, and Billy Casper Wednesday were named to Golf Magazine's All-America golf team for the fourth straight year.

Undeclared Jackson Tops Saltcreek

Jackson remained undefeated in the Pickaway County junior high basketball league stopping Saltcreek 45-36 Wednesday.

In other action once beaten Scioto came from behind to hand Ashville its second loss 36-33; Washington edged Walnut 38-35; Monroe trounced Pickaway 51-21.

The twin scoring threat of Bruce Beatty and Mark Schein paced Jackson's attack. Beatty scored 18 points and Schein 15 in the winning effort. For the losers Tim Justice notched 11 markers while Bob Brown contributed 10. Saltcreek was outscored 13-2 in the second quarter but played on even terms with the winners for the rest of the game.

Ashville led 13-8 at the end of the first quarter 23-15 at half-time and 28-24 at the third quarter mark against Scioto. But the Buffalos, paced by a balanced scoring effort, overtook the Broncos in the final two minutes for the win.

DAVID Chaffin swished 10 points through the nets for Scioto, Keith Lemaster and Bud McWhorter eight each and Larry Hollingshead six.

Dale Hamilton and Gary Bennett scored 10 each for Washington as they picked up their second win of the season.

Hill To Start

Circleville Preps For Miami Trace

Circleville, still seeking its first win of the season, hosts Miami Trace Friday at the new high school.

Although strong at the guard position, the current edition of the Trace Panthers does not sport as much height as past teams.

Phil Bihl, brother of graduated 6-6 center Dave Bihl is the tallest man starting. He is about 6-3 according to Circleville Coach Chuck Hill.

"Their forwards are only about 6-0 and 6-1," Hill noted. Last year, the Panthers had a forward wall that averaged nearly 6-4.

BUT where Trace is strongest, at the guard spot with the veteran Bob Thornberry back, Circleville is the weakest.

"We are going to start George Hill at guard," Coach Hill noted. "He shows more hustle and has more quickness and strength than anybody else we have for the spot and probably passes as well as anybody."

Hill lacks experience. Although a senior, he did not try out for the team during his junior year.

The rest of the lineup will probably remain the same, although right now Ty Ankrom may be a doubtful starter. Ankrom missed school and practice yesterday.

Sophomore Charlie Jackson may get a chance to work at guard. He has been starting at forward, along with Jeff Steele, senior cager who is the leading scorer on the squad.

Gene Dyke, the 6-4 junior center, will probably get the call to start if Ankrom cannot play.

MIAMI Trace is averaging 60.2 points per game. Defensively, they are giving up an average of 61.2 points.

They stand at 1-1 in the league and have an overall record of 3-2. Losses have been to Wilmington and to Chillicothe.

In Chuck Weaver and Bob Thornberry, they have two of the leading scorers in the league.

Weaver has an 18 average against league teams and a 14.2 scoring average against all teams. Thornberry has been averaging 17 a game in the two league contests and 14 in all games. Both are squads.

Circleville's first break of the season comes Saturday when they have no games scheduled. The Tigers began the year with three Friday-Saturday week-ends.

Orioles Open

BALTIMORE (AP) The Baltimore Orioles will open their 1968 baseball season at home April 9 against the Oakland Athletics, who will also be Baltimore's first road opponent on April 17.

Johnny Unitas Named NFL's 'Most Valuable Player'

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Unitas, the veteran quarterback who has led the Baltimore Colts through 13 games without defeat, has been voted the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League by a landslide vote of an Associated Press panel.

Only four players were mentioned in the balloting by a committee of sports writers and sportscasters, three from each league city. One panel member did not vote in the MVP competition.

Unitas, completing his 12th season in a ragstortches pro career, received 40 votes. Dave "Deacon" Jones, defensive end of the Los Angeles Rams, drew three and running backs Leroy Kelly of Cleveland and Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears each got two.

Although Unitas wasn't even mentioned last year when Bart Starr of Green Bay was voted the MVP and didn't even get a vote on the 1966 All-Star team, the 34-year-old recaptured his old magic this season.

Unitas' career was in danger last season when a damaged right shoulder threatened to put him on the sidelines permanently. Benched at one stage of the '66 campaign, he finished in an agony of pain and interceptions.

In training camp last summer, Unitas bled his arm and cut down to a limited number of practice throws once a day. It worked so well that he probably will have thrown more passes than ever by the time Sunday's game with the Los Angeles Rams is over. Unitas' high was 420 passes in 1961. He already has thrown 405.

During the season Unitas has added to his own NFL records for touchdown passes (251) and yards gained passing (32,815 yards or about 19 miles), and also has passed Y. A. Tittle for league records with most completions (2,242) and most passes attempted (4,066).

But the most important achievement by Unitas has been his ability to use a variety of receivers when injuries struck down Jimmy Orr and Raymond Berry, and to make the air attack stand up, despite an ordinary running game, for an 11-0-2 record going into the final with the Rams.

Alex Hawkins took over when Berry was out and Willie Richardson did such a fine job at Orr's position that he made All-League at flanker. The two wide receivers, plus tight end John Mackey and running back Tom Matte have been Unitas' favorite targets.

In addition to throwing the passes for 19 touchdowns, Unitas has called the plays that make the Colts the No. 1 offensive team in the league.

No wonder they pay the guy a reported $125,000 a year. After all, they got him for a song from the semipro in 1956.

Alex Hawkins took over when Berry was out and Willie Richardson did such a fine job at Orr's position that he made All-League at flanker. The two wide receivers, plus tight end John Mackey and running back Tom Matte have been Unitas' favorite targets.

In addition to throwing the passes for 19 touchdowns, Unitas has called the plays that make the Colts the No. 1 offensive team in the league.

No wonder they pay the guy a reported $125,000 a year. After all, they got him for a song from the semipro in 1956.

Jobless Rate Shows Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national unemployment rate fell four points in November, the sharpest drop in more than six years, the Labor Department reported today.

The jobless rate of 3.9 per cent last month reversed the upward trend in unemployment during September and October and returned the over-all rate to the range that has prevailed since late 1965.

The seasonally adjusted total of unemployed in November dropped to 2.9 million, which countered the downward trend usually occurring during the month.

The unemployment rate in November last year was 3.5 per cent.
